Grumble's lived high on a chilly mountain.
His cave was dark and quiet, just the way he liked it.
He always wore, frown, even when the sun shone bright.

TOO MUCH NOISE!

One blustery morning, a tiny, lost little squirrel scampred near his cave. It shivered, its big eyes looking up at an hopeful plea. Grumbles just crossed his arms.

A tiny, new feeling stirred inside
Grumbles.

With a sigh, Grumbles found a juicy berry and gently offered it.

The squirrel carefully took the treat, its little tail giving a quick, happy flick.

♥ He felt a small warmth.
