

ZAID'S GRAND ADVENTURE

The Light of Good Manners: Zaid's
Journey at Light House Academy

Young Zaid arrives at the Light House Academy with a backpack full of books and a heart full of curiosity. He learns that just as a lamp needs light to shine, his knowledge needs the glow of good manners to truly benefit the world around him.

Throughout the morning, Zaid moves with grace and humility, walking calmly through the school hallways with a polite smile for everyone he passes. When he stops for a drink of water, he remembers to sit down and take slow, mindful sips, practicing discipline in even the smallest actions.

At lunchtime, Zaid joins his friends at the table, starting his meal with a quiet prayer and eating neatly with his right hand. They share their food and stories with joy, creating a peaceful atmosphere where friendship and respect are the most important ingredients.

In the classroom, Zaid transforms into a dedicated scholar, sitting at his desk with his books and tools perfectly organized. He focuses his eyes and his mind on the lesson, understanding that true wisdom comes to those who approach their studies with patience and order.

When Zaid wants to share a thought or ask a question, he raises his hand quietly and waits for his teacher to call on him. He speaks with a gentle voice and listens intently to the answers, showing the same respect to his fellow students as he does to his instructors.

Zaid is a friend that everyone can trust because he always keeps his promises and is the first to offer a sincere apology if he makes a mistake. He celebrates his classmates' successes with a happy heart, knowing that there is no room for jealousy in a mind seeking true knowledge.

Even when Zaid feels a flash of anger or disappointment, he takes a deep breath and chooses to respond with kindness. He helps a younger student who is struggling with their bag, proving that a strong person is one who can control their emotions and help others grow.

When the school day ends, Zaid brings the light of his academy ethics home, greeting his parents with a warm hug and helping with the family chores. He prepares for sleep by washing and saying his evening prayers, reflecting on the good deeds he performed throughout the day.

Zaid finds deep peace in his faith, standing in sincere prayer and looking at the beauty of the world with gratitude for his Creator. He cherishes his religion and his nation, feeling proud to be part of a community that values service, peace, and the pursuit of truth.

As a dedicated member of the Light House Academy, Zaid practices his lessons every day so that his good habits become a part of who he is. He stands tall with his friends, a shining example of how knowledge and ethics together create a life of purpose and light.
