

The Magic Lunch Box

Jayasri Dommaraju

Little Anu skips cheerfully along a winding path to school, her oversized, brightly colored lunch box swinging playfully in her hand. Sunshine beams down, highlighting her joyful, exaggerated smile and the bounce in her step.

At school, Anu sits proudly at her desk, her magnificent lunch box overflowing with a rainbow of delicious foods: fluffy rice, vibrant curry, shiny fruits, and tempting sweets. Beside her, Raju sits quietly, his tiny, simple lunch of just a slice of bread looking very small.

The lunchtime bell rings! Anu happily digs into her feast, completely engrossed in her own food, a joyful expression on her face. Raju watches her from his seat, a tiny frown on his face as he nibbles his small bread, his eyes occasionally drifting towards Anu's abundant spread.

The next morning, Raju arrives at school with slumped shoulders and a very sad, droopy face, his hands empty. He sadly explains to his teacher that he forgot his lunch box at home, his tummy rumbling with hunger.

Anu opens her lunch box, ready for another delicious meal, her eyes sparkling with anticipation. But then she glances over and sees Raju nearby, looking utterly dejected and very hungry, his tummy making loud, cartoonish grumbles.

Anu looks back at her lunch box, her eyes widening in comical surprise as she notices it's suddenly half empty! Her cheerful smile turns into a worried pout, and she tilts her head, wondering where all her food went.

A soft, glowing light emanates from the lunch box, and a gentle, whimsical voice floats into Anu's ears: "Food grows when you share it." Anu's eyes widen with understanding, a thoughtful expression replacing her worry.

A big, genuine smile spreads across Anu's face as she turns to Raju, extending her lunch box towards him with a generous gesture. Raju's sad face instantly transforms into one of sheer delight and gratitude, his eyes sparkling with happiness.

As Anu shares her food with Raju, a magical shimmer surrounds the lunch box, and it instantly refills, overflowing with even more delicious treats than before! Anu and Raju laugh joyfully, sharing the feast together, their faces beaming.

From that day forward, Anu is always seen sharing her bountiful lunch with Raju and all her friends, her lunch box magically staying full. Everyone around her is happy and smiling, enjoying the delicious food and the warmth of her friendship.