

Leo's Friendly Morning

Sol Camila Saá Salinas

Leo stands at the threshold of a sun-drenched classroom, holding his backpack straps with a hopeful expression. The room inside is a kaleidoscope of colors, filled with low wooden tables and shelves overflowing with books and toys.

Leo walks into the center of the room with a joyful wave, his eyes sparkling as he catches the attention of his peers. A group of diverse children look up from their play, their faces breaking into warm, welcoming smiles as they see their friend arrive.

Leo sits down at a small table with his classmates, sharing a moment of laughter and a friendly greeting. The classroom is a cozy haven of learning, decorated with paper stars hanging from the ceiling and bright artwork displayed proudly on the walls.
