

Tatsumaki's Elegant Evening

Joy Boy

Tatsumaki stands before the large, brightly lit bathroom mirror, looking at her reflection. On the counter lies a beautifully tailored black dress, waiting to be worn. She takes a deep breath, feeling a mix of excitement and anticipation for the grand evening ahead.

She gently brushes her iconic curly green hair, ensuring every strand falls perfectly into place. The warm glow of the vanity lights illuminates her determined expression. Today is a special night, and she wants everything to be flawless.

Carefully lifting the elegant black dress, she appreciates the fine fabric and the way it catches the light. She steps into the dress, feeling the soft material glide over her skin. It fits her perfectly, just as she had hoped.

Tatsumaki reaches behind her to secure the zipper, her reflection showing a look of quiet concentration. With a smooth motion, the dress is fastened, contouring to her silhouette. She adjusts the collar, admiring the classic and sophisticated design.

Next, she opens her jewelry box to select the perfect accessories to complement her look. She chooses a pair of simple yet elegant silver earrings that catch the light. As she puts them on, they add a touch of sparkle to her green hair.

She applies a subtle touch of makeup, enhancing her natural features with practiced ease. A light brush of blush and a swipe of dark lipstick complete her look. She smiles at her reflection, feeling her confidence grow.

Tatsumaki steps back to view the entire ensemble in the full-length mirror. The black dress flows elegantly, contrasting beautifully with her vibrant green hair. She strikes a confident pose, feeling ready to conquer the night.

She sprays a light mist of her favorite perfume, letting the delicate scent wrap around her like an invisible cloak. The fragrance fills the bathroom, adding a final touch of sophistication to her preparation.

Slipping into a pair of matching black heels, she stands tall and takes a few practice steps. The steady click of her heels on the tiled floor echoes her rising excitement. Everything is in place, and she feels completely transformed.

With one final, satisfied look in the mirror, Tatsumaki opens the bathroom door and steps out into the hallway. The evening awaits, and she is ready to shine in her elegant black dress. Her journey of preparation is complete, and the night is just beginning.