— LOVE. HONOR. DESTINY. — A WUXIA SAGA OF POWER AND DEVOT

Deep within the misty Bamboo Forest of Longquan, young blacksmith Ye Tianming watches as a meteor streaks across the night sky, crashing into the heart of the mountains. Driven by a strange calling, he unearths a glowing celestial ore, destined to forge a blade that will alter the fate of the empire.

For forty-nine days and nights, Tianming labors over the roaring furnace, his hands scarred but unyielding as he pours his own spiritual energy into the metal. When the blade is finally quenched in sacred spring water, a brilliant light pierces the clouds, revealing the legendary sword known as Forever Echo.

Word of the miraculous weapon reaches the treacherous Imperial Court, where the ambitious Prince Zhao plots to seize the throne. He dispatches a legion of elite shadow assassins to eliminate the young blacksmith and claim the celestial blade for his dark army.

As the assassins surround the burning village, a mysterious maiden named Lin Xueyan appears from the bamboo canopy, her flowing white silks deflecting a volley of poisoned arrows. Recognizing the pure aura of the sword, she joins forces with Tianming, fighting off the attackers in a blur of martial artistry.

Fleeing the ashes of his home, Tianming learns from Xueyan that she is the last guardian of an ancient martial sect sworn to protect the realm from dark magic. Together, they embark on a perilous journey across mountains and rivers to reach the neutral sanctuary of the Cloud-Top Temple.

Along the jagged cliffs of Mount Hua, the duo is ambushed by the Ferocious Tiger Clan, a mercenary band hired by Prince Zhao to intercept them. Tianming unsheathes Forever Echo for the first time in true combat, the blade singing with a righteous resonance that shatters the enemy's weapons.

During a brief moment of peace under the blossoming peony trees of an ancient monastery, Tianming and Xueyan share a quiet conversation about their pasts. As the moonlight illuminates the courtyard, a silent bond forms between them, stronger than any vow or decree.

The journey takes a dark turn when they infiltrate the bustling Imperial Capital to find a missing piece of the sword's prophecy. In the crowded, lantern-lit night market, Tianming senses a sinister energy, realizing that the Prince's grand sorcerer has laid a mystical trap for them.

Separated in the labyrinthine corridors of the forbidden palace, Xueyan is captured, forcing Tianming to face the grand sorcerer alone in the imperial throne room. Surrounded by swirling dark magic and illusions, Tianming raises his sword, channeling the pure celestial light to dispel the shadows.

With Xueyan rescued and the Prince's plot temporarily thwarted, the two heroes stand atop the majestic Great Wall, looking out over the vast, peaceful empire. Though they know this is only the beginning of a seven-volume journey filled with many more trials, they swear to face the future together, forever bound to the sword.
