Mu Ryan

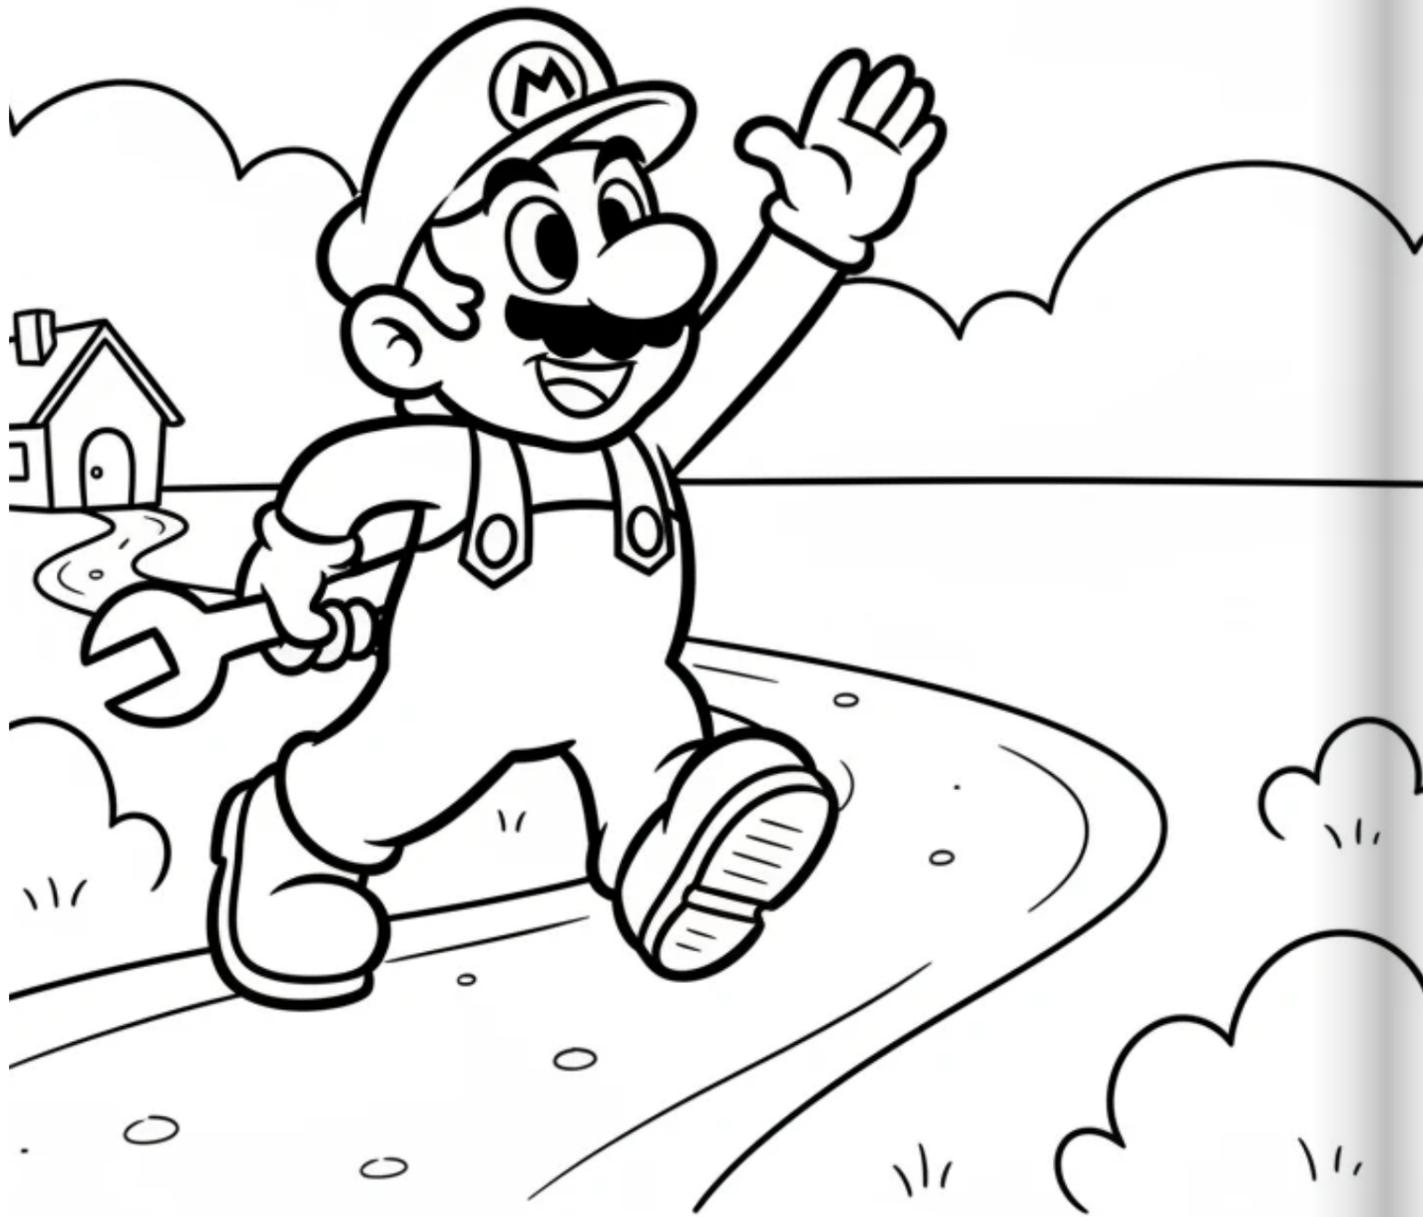

Milo, a cheerful little plumber, lived in a cozy house with his big red hat. He loved fixing things and always carried his shiny wrench. Today was a sunny day, perfect for adventures.

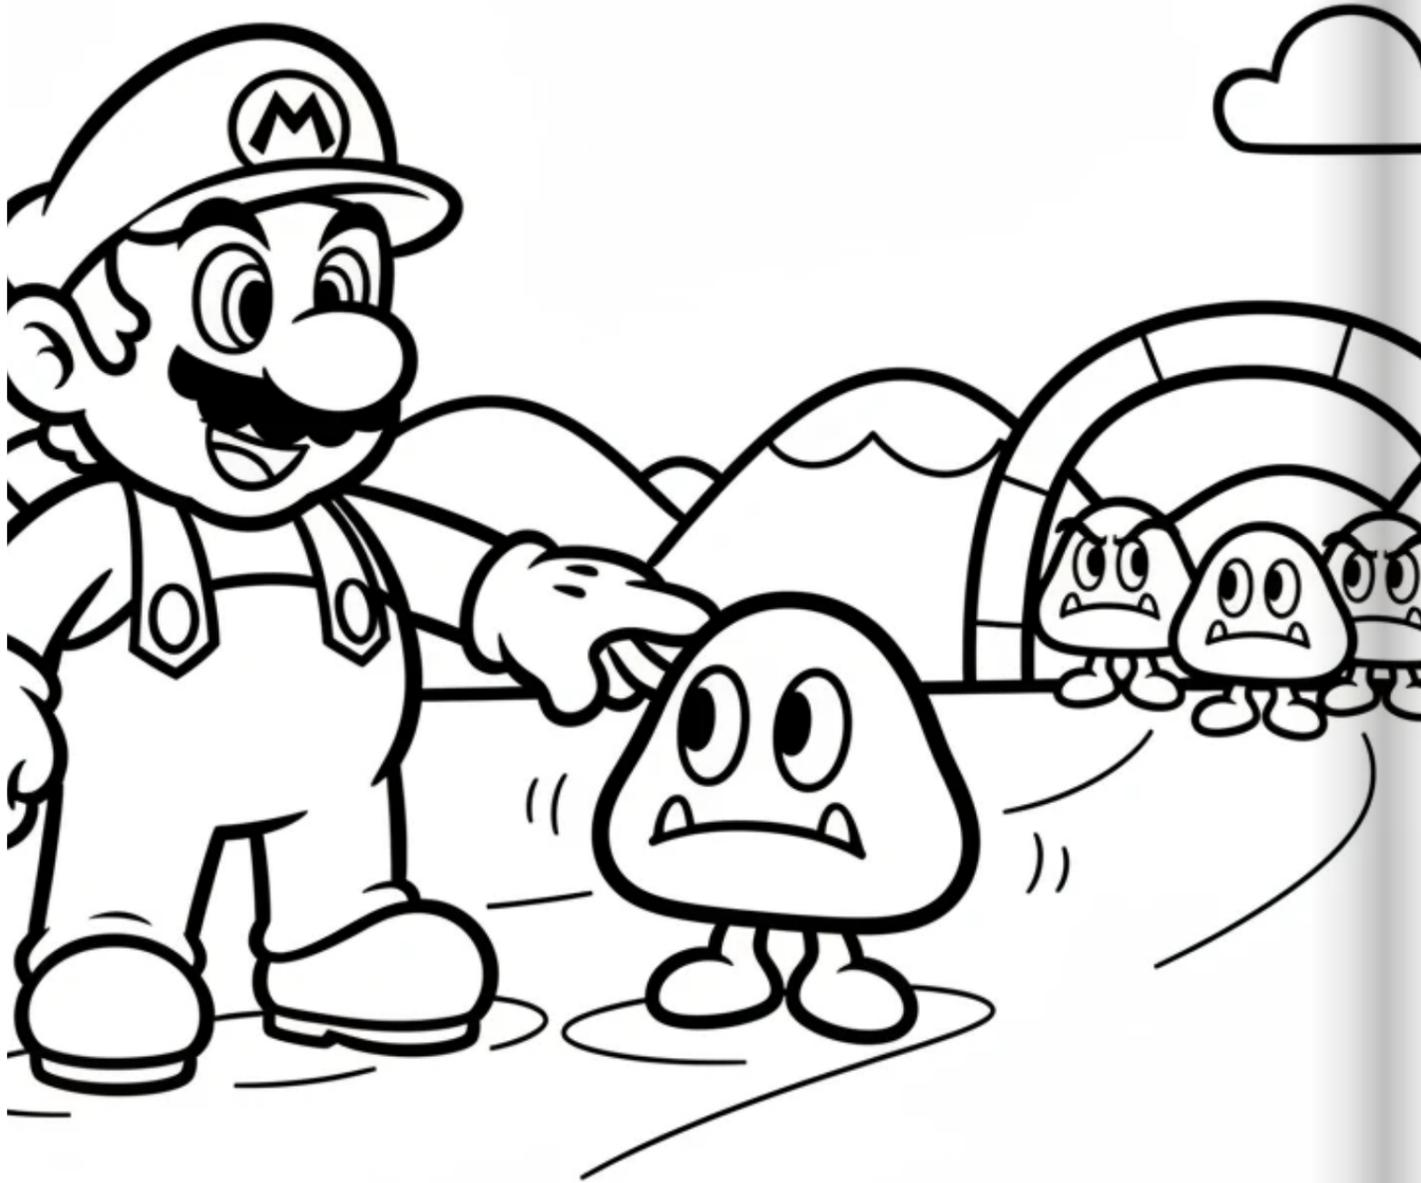

GIGGLE-GUSH MOUNTAIN

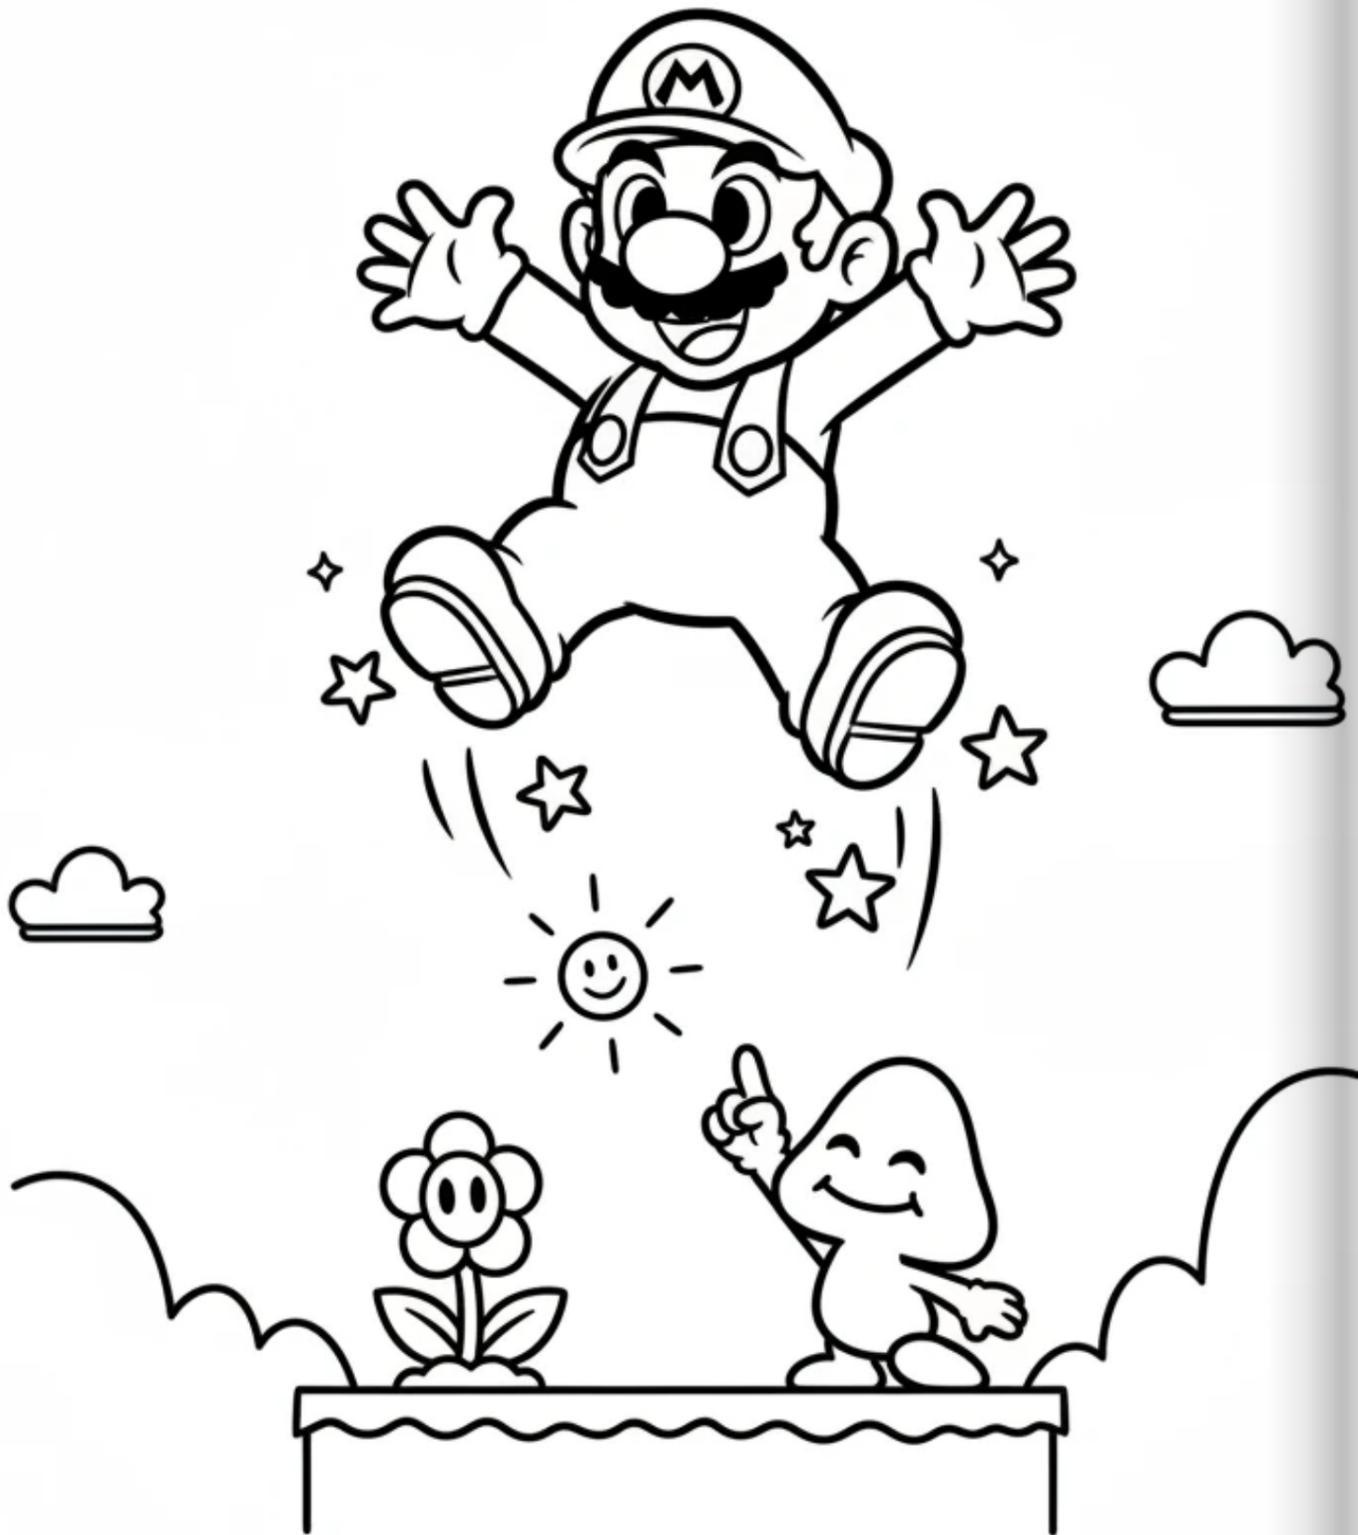

Suddenly, a worried little mushroom friend bounced to his door. "Oh no, Milo!" it squeaked. "The Giggle-Gush Mountain pipe is leaking!" Milo knew he had to help.

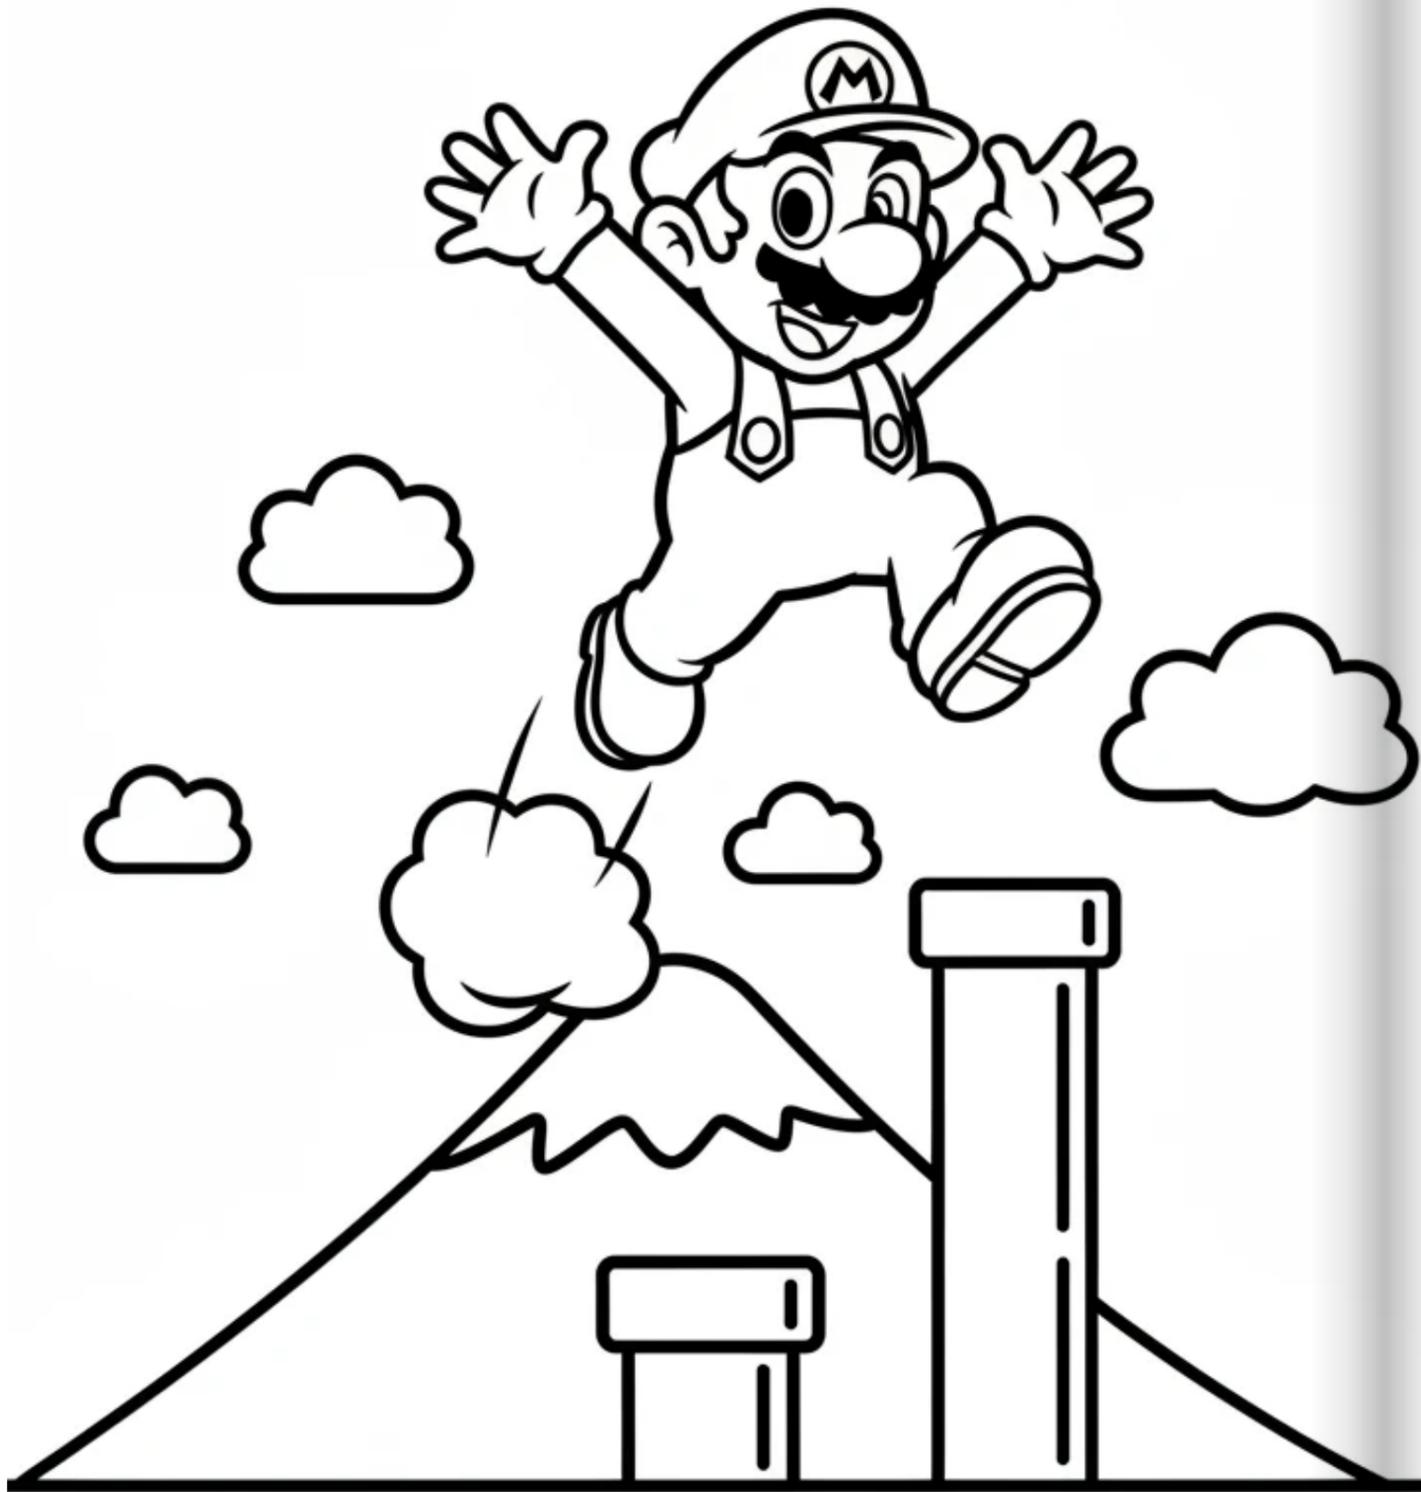

Milo bravely put on his trusty boots and grabbed his biggest wrench. He waved goodbye to his house and set off on his journey. The path ahead looked exciting and new.

On his way, Milo met a wobbly, Goomba-like creature blocking the path. It was friendly but a little lost. Milo gently guided it back to its friends.

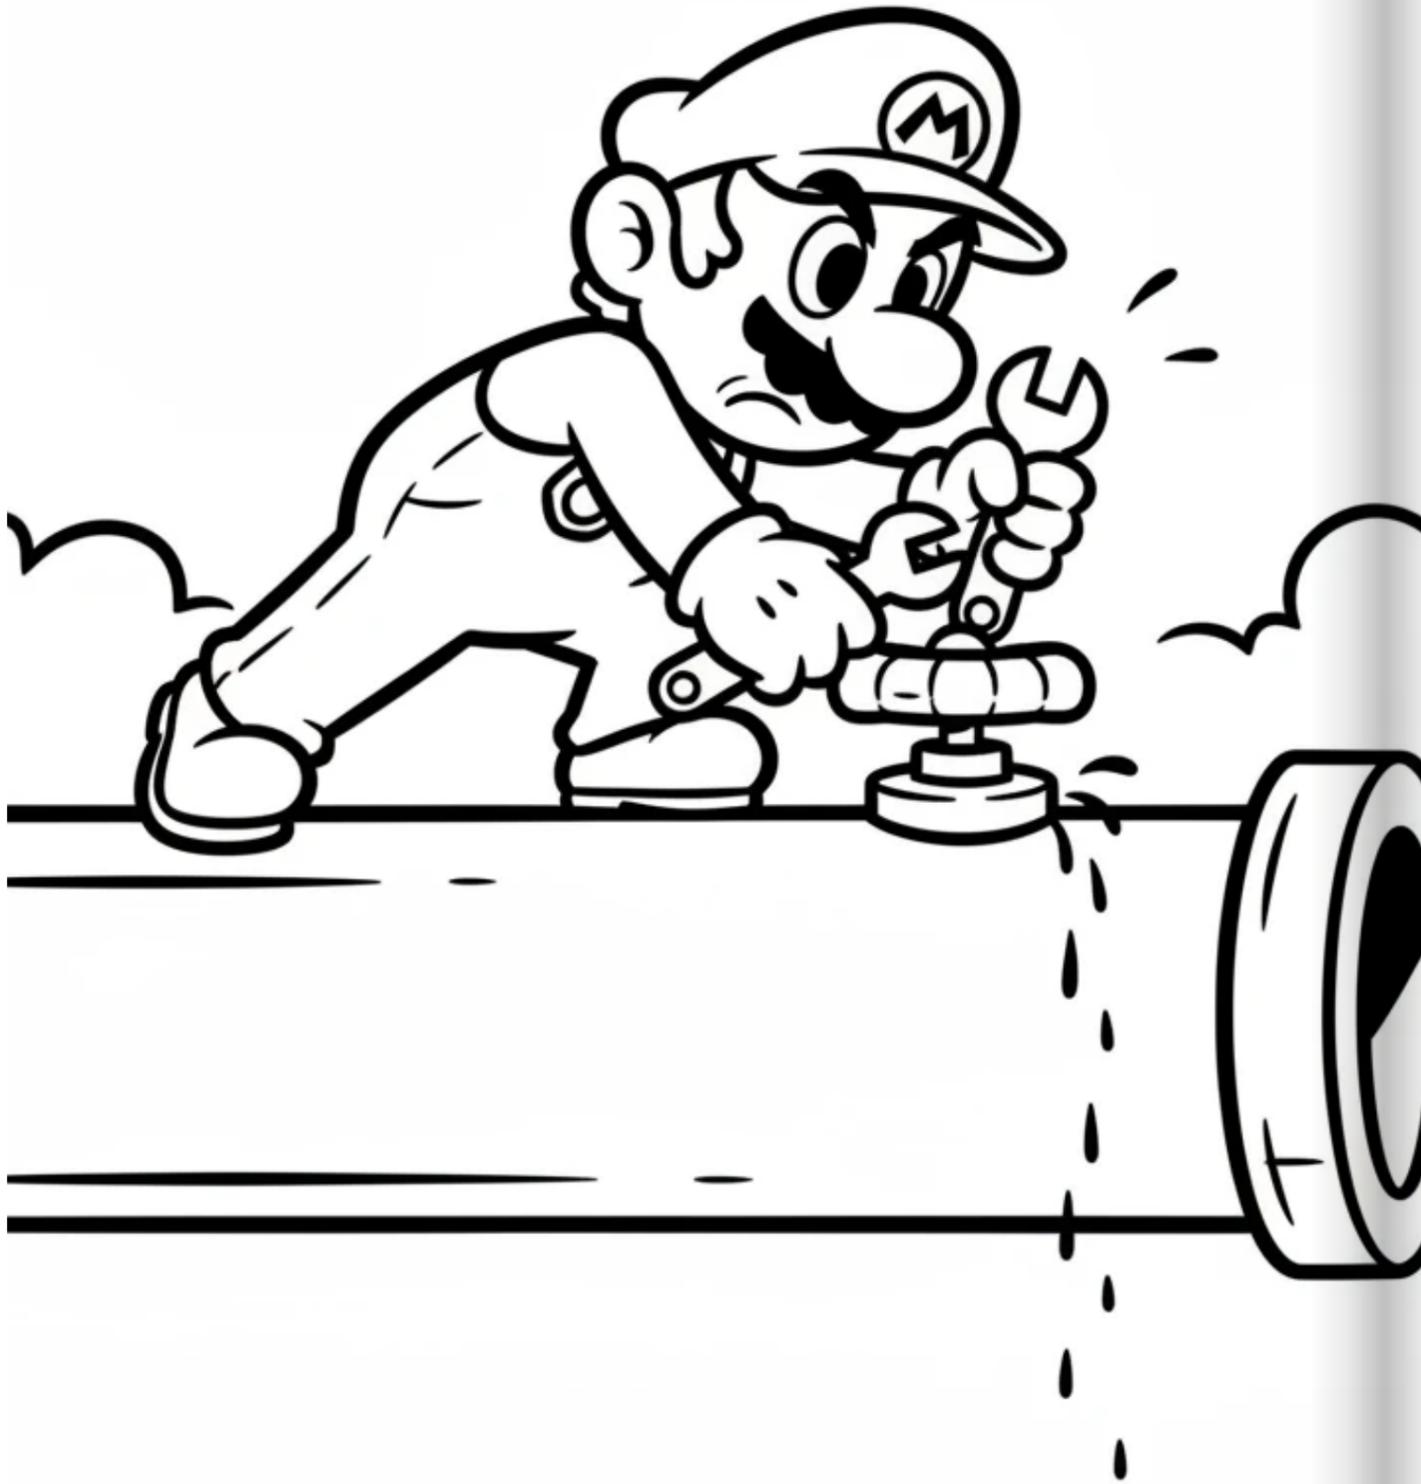

As a thank you, the Goomba-like creature pointed to a hidden power-up flower. Milo ate the flower and suddenly felt super strong! He could jump extra high now.

Milo used his super jump to leap over tall, colorful pipes and bouncy clouds. He bounced from cloud to cloud, getting closer to Giggle-Gush Mountain. The sky was bright and blue.

Finally, Milo reached Giggle-Gush Mountain. A giant, bubbly pipe was gushing water everywhere, making a huge puddle. It looked like a very big problem indeed!

Milo bravely climbed onto the giant pipe. He used his super strength to tighten the loose valve with his wrench. He twisted and turned until the water slowed to a trickle.

With a final mighty twist, the pipe stopped gushing! Cheers erupted from the little mushroom friends who had followed him. The mountain was safe and sound again.

Tired but happy, Milo waved goodbye to his grateful friends. He knew he had done a good job. He skipped all the way back home, already dreaming of his next adventure.
