Mu Ryan

Little Cosmo was just a happy puppy, full of wiggles and woofs. He loved to chase butterflies in the sunny green meadow. His tail wagged like a cheerful pendulum, always ready for fun.

One day, while digging under an old oak tree, Cosmo found something special. It was a shimmering, star-shaped pebble that hummed with a soft, warm glow. He felt a tingle right down to his tail.

When Cosmo wagged his tail near the pebble, a tiny spark flew out! The spark landed on a wilting flower, and instantly, the flower bloomed bright and colorful. Cosmo's eyes widened in surprise.

Cosmo tried again, wagging his tail with all his might. This time, his favorite red ball began to float gently in the air! He barked with delight, chasing it as it bobbed above his head.

Later that afternoon, Cosmo discovered he could make bubbles appear out of nowhere. Big, round, wobbly bubbles drifted through the garden, reflecting the sunlight. He loved to pop them with his nose.

A little bird had dropped its feather from its nest high up in a tree. With a gentle flick of his magical tail, Cosmo made the feather float back up to the bird, who chirped a happy thank you.

One rainy day, Cosmo felt a little gloomy. He gave his tail a big shake, and suddenly, a vibrant rainbow arched across the sky! The colors brightened the whole world.

As evening fell, Cosmo walked into a field of glowing fireflies. With a swish of his tail, he made them dance and twinkle brighter, creating a magical light show just for him.

Cosmo loved to share his magic. When children visited, he would make their favorite toys briefly hop and skip on their own. Giggles and gasps of wonder filled the air.

After a day full of magic and play, sleepy Cosmo curled up in his bed. He dreamt of all the wonderful things his magical tail could do, ready for new adventures tomorrow.
