

The background of the book cover is a vibrant, cartoon-style illustration. On the left, a large, purple, shaggy monster with small horns and a friendly smile looks down at a small white rabbit. The rabbit, wearing a red knitted scarf, stands on the right, looking up at the monster. They are in a lush green field with yellow wildflowers. In the background, there is a blue stream with a small waterfall, surrounded by green trees and a bright, sunny sky with rays of light.

Grumi, el monstruo del corazón gigante

juan correa

Deep in the Green Forest lived Grumi, a monster
as tall as a tree with soft violet fur and the sweetest eyes in the world.

The small forest animals were very afraid of him and ran to hide as soon as they heard his booming footsteps. Grumi didn't understand why they fled, but he never got angry; he simply left little gifts of fresh blackberries and flowers at the entrance of their burrows.

On a cloudy day, little Clara lost her favorite scarf when it got trapped on the highest branch of a great oak tree.

A purple, furry monster with small horns and large eyes is standing on the left, holding a red knitted scarf. It is looking down at a small white rabbit on the right. The rabbit has large ears and is looking up at the monster with a sad expression, its hands clasped together. They are in a forest with yellow and orange autumn leaves on the ground and trees. In the background, there are mountains and a body of water under a blue sky with a few clouds. A basket of autumn leaves is on the ground to the left.

Grumi gently stretched out his long purple arm to retrieve the wool scarf and returned it to little Clara with a soft bow.

“Thank you,” Clara said,
with a big smile, looking up at the gentle giant.

“From today, we are friends!”

And so, their beautiful friendship began.

That same afternoon, Clara accompanied Grumi through the forest to introduce him to the squirrels, deer, and owls. The little bunny explained to everyone that Grumi was not dangerous, but a loving creature who was always ready to help.

Little by little, the animals' fear turned into curiosity and joy as they discovered Grumi's talent for building swings and protecting their nests.

To celebrate the arrival of autumn, Grumi organized a grand picnic in the forest clearing with wild berry pie and chamomile tea. All the animals attended delighted, laughing and playing around their new friend.

As night fell, Grumi lit soft fireflies to illuminate the clearing and sang a sweet lullaby, lulling the little animals to sleep
in his lap.

From that beautiful day on, no one in the Green Forest ever judged anyone by their size or appearance. Grumi finally found the warm home he had always dreamed of, surrounded by true friends who loved his huge, kind heart.

