The Academy of Covenant

วงพัทตร์ สายศรี

Jax and Emmy stand before the towering, ornate gates of the Academy of Covenant, their eyes filled with wonder at the floating spires and shimmering magical barriers. The air hums with ancient energy as hundreds of new students arrive, marking the beginning of an extraordinary journey into the unknown.

Beneath the silver leaves of the academy's sacred tree, Jax and Emmy lock pinky fingers in a solemn vow of eternal trust. They promise to always protect one another and never let secrets or lies tear their friendship apart, no matter how difficult the path becomes.

In the sun-drenched training grounds, the duo masters the fundamental art of magical blocking, creating translucent hexagonal shields to deflect energy blasts. Jax focuses on conjuring his glowing magic chains while Emmy refines the swift, graceful movements of her Wind Dash technique.

During their first competitive sparring match, Jax and Emmy face off against a pair of formidable senior students in a high-stakes arena. They move in perfect harmony, Emmy's illusions distracting their opponents while Jax's magic chains bind them, securing a stunning and unexpected victory.

Exhaustion weighs heavy on them after weeks of grueling failure and intense study within the academy's vast, ancient library. Despite the physical bruises and the mental strain of mastering complex spells, they support each other through the late nights, refusing to let their spirits be broken.

During a sudden, life-threatening accident in the alchemy lab, time seems to slow down for Jax as a flickering vision of a collapsing pillar flashes before his eyes. He lunges forward to push Emmy out of harm's way just seconds before the disaster occurs, realizing he has unlocked the rare and unpredictable gift of foresight.

A formidable rival student wielding overwhelming shadow magic challenges them, pushing Jax and Emmy to their absolute limits in a clash of light and darkness. Though the encounter leaves them humbled, it fuels their burning determination to train harder and evolve their unique abilities for the trials ahead.

Now fourteen years old and clad in advanced battle robes, Jax and Emmy receive their first official mission from the academy elders. They are tasked with traveling to a silent, fog-shrouded abandoned city rumored to be the breeding ground for ancient, vengeful demons.

The atmosphere in the ruined city is suffocatingly dark, with crumbling stone structures casting long, eerie shadows under a blood-red moon. Suddenly, a swarm of grotesque demons lunges from the shadows, forcing the pair into a desperate, high-speed battle for survival amidst the debris.

Combining Jax's foresight with Emmy's homing spirit arrows, the two unleash a devastating synchronized attack that purifies the demonic presence in a burst of radiant light. As the sun rises over the ruins, they stand weary but victorious, unaware that a much greater shadow is watching them from the distant horizon.
