

Kaveen and the Midnight Deadline

Suresh Nilupul

Kaveen was completely in the zone, determined to reach Level 50
before the night ended.

JUST ONE MORE ROUND...
THEN I'LL FINISH
MY EPIC QUEST.

The deadline is twelve-fifteen. No exceptions.

ONE MORE PUSH!

Kaveen stared at the problem, feeling stuck.

Then—just like a bolt of lightning—he remembered!

There was a place that could help.

He grabbed a pen and wrote it down.

taskbook.edu.lk

The answer might be just a click away.

Kaveen dove back into his seat and began typing with even greater speed than he used during his video games.

He held his breath as the loading bar slowly stretched across the browser screen, making every single second feel like an entire hour.

The heavy weight of the deadline completely vanished from his shoulders.

With a joyful grin and a relaxed heart, Kaveen put his headset back on and grabbed his controller once again.

Now that his schoolwork was safely turned in, his gaming victory felt ten times sweeter.
