Mu Ryan

Meet Sparky, a happy little car who lived in a cozy garage. He had bright, round headlights and a friendly smile, but he felt like there was something special about him.

One sunny morning, Sparky wiggled his wheels and felt a strange lift. To his surprise, he floated a tiny bit off the ground! He giggled, realizing he could fly.

Sparky practiced his new skill and saw a little bird trying to reach its high nest. With a gentle hum, Sparky floated up, helping the bird get home safely.

Feeling brave, Sparky decided to explore the world from above. He soared over green, rolling hills and felt the wind in his imaginary hair.

Down below, Sparky spotted a tiny squirrel looking worried. He landed softly and asked what was wrong. The squirrel had lost its favorite nut!

Sparky offered the squirrel a ride. Together, they flew high above the trees, looking for the biggest, nuttiest tree in the forest.

They found a giant, sparkling puddle blocking their way home. Sparky knew they couldn't drive through it, and it was too wide to jump.

Sparky had a brilliant idea! He concentrated hard, and magical bubbles began to form. They made a wobbly, wonderful bridge right over the puddle.

Carefully, Sparky drove across the bubble bridge with the squirrel chattering happily. They made it to the other side, safe and sound!

As the sun began to set, Sparky and the squirrel waved goodbye. They promised to have many more magical adventures tomorrow, ready for new discoveries.
