First Day of School

The morning sun streams into the bedroom where Samar and Nivaan are waking up for a big day. Little Nivaan, with his round face and straight hair, bounces on the bed with excitement because it is finally his first day of school.

In the kitchen, Mom is smiling as she plates a stack of warm, golden pancakes for her two sons. The delicious scent of breakfast fills the home, making the fair-skinned boys eager to start their morning.

Samar & Nivaan

Samar, the older brother in Grade 4, sits beside Nivaan and helps him finish his breakfast. They both look neat and tidy in their school clothes, ready to represent Adhyan School.

Nivaan carefully puts on his small backpack while Samar checks to make sure they have everything they need. The two brothers stand together, looking like a perfect team with their matching straight hair and bright smiles.

Dad leads the way out the door, holding Nivaan's hand as they begin their walk to school. Samar walks confidently beside them, acting as the perfect guide for his younger brother's big milestone.

They arrive at the entrance of Adhyan School, where other children are laughing and playing. Nivaan looks up at the large school building with wide, curious eyes, feeling both brave and a little nervous.

Samar stops to give Nivaan a reassuring hug right outside the Playgroup classroom. He tells his little brother that he will be just down the hall in his Grade 4 room if he needs anything.

The Playgroup teacher greets Nivaan with a friendly wave and a kind word. Nivaan looks at Dad and Samar one last time, feeling the love and support of his family as he prepares to enter.

Samar waves a cheerful goodbye to Nivaan before turning to head toward his own classroom. He is proud to see his little brother taking such a big step on his very first day.

Nivaan walks into his new classroom and finds a seat among the colorful toys and friendly faces. He has a big smile on his face, knowing that his first day at Adhyan School is going to be wonderful.
