Pastel spotted a bright little fish...
but it was already gone!

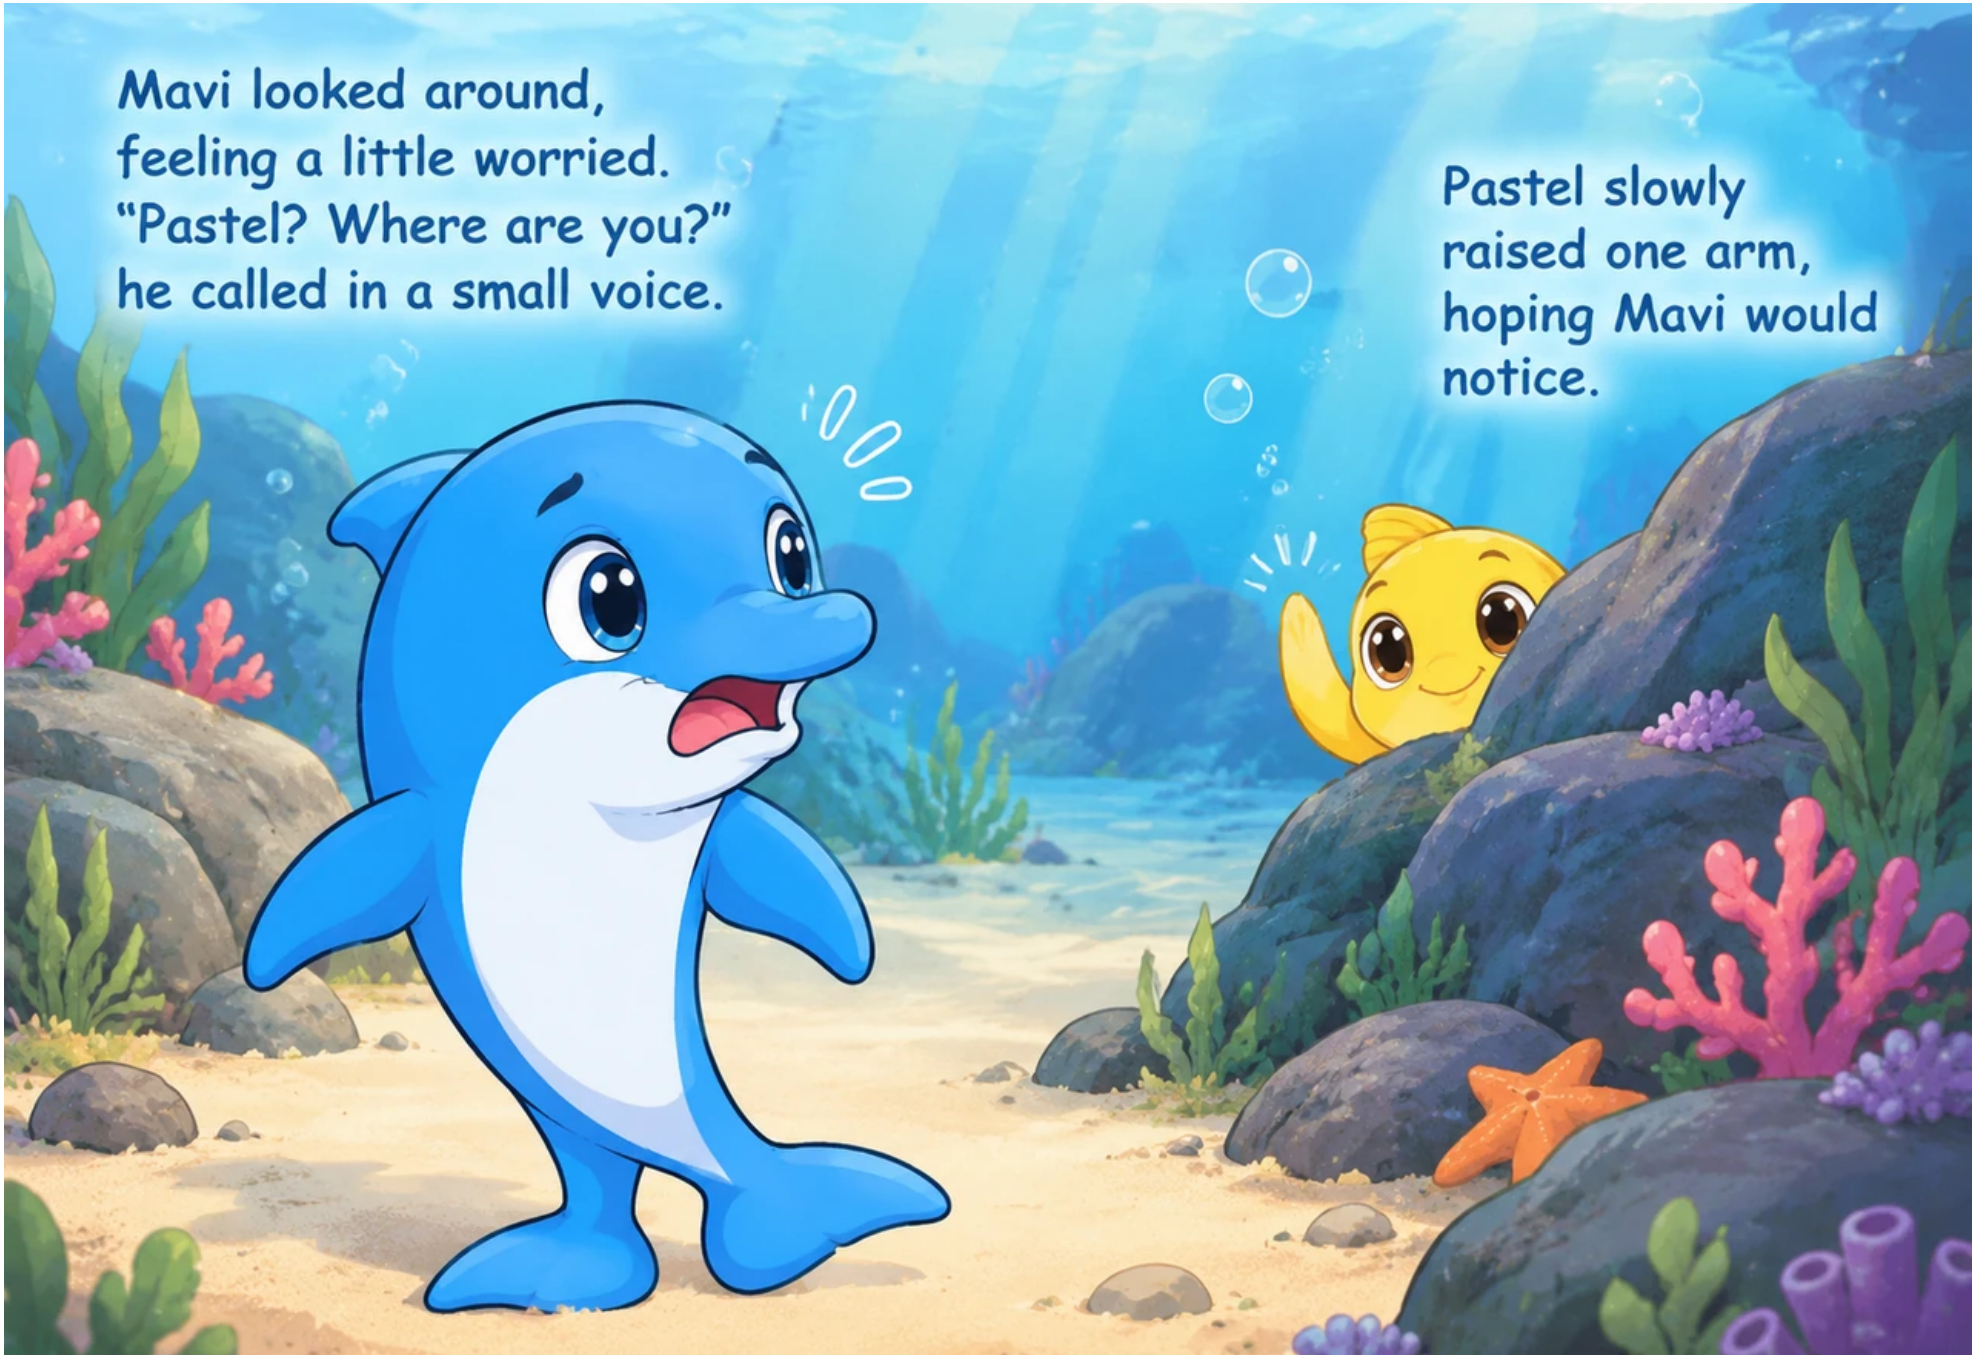

Mavi swam through the sea with a cheerful smile.
Oh! Is that a rock?
But it was Pastel! Mavi had mistaken Pastel for a rock.
Hi! I'm Mavi!
Hi! I'm Pastel!
They quickly became friends. Mavi waited patiently, letting Pastel gain confidence.
What shall we do together?
Let's explore the sea!

Mavi shook his head, and a tiny piece of seaweed got stuck on his snout.
Then he rubbed his nose with his fin, and the seaweed floated up and landed on Pastel's head!
Pastel giggled!

Mavi praised Pastel, saying he would be a wonderful hide-and-seek player.
You would be a wonderful hide-and-seek player! Let's play hide-and-seek!
Hide-and-Seek
As preparations for the thrilling game are completed, Mavi dances leisurely around the environment.

I found you!

Pastel tucked in her arms and wedged herself among the rocks, perfectly camouflaged like a piece of driftwood.
Mavi swam around searching with a puzzled expression.
Then Mavi leaned back against the rock to rest, and was utterly surprised as she realized the rock was actually soft.
The small yellow fish watched.

Mavi looked around,
feeling a little worried.
“Pastel? Where are you?”
he called in a small voice.
Pastel slowly
raised one arm, hoping Mavi would notice.

Pastel's arm glowed, and she changed into her vibrant color!
Mavi was amazed!
The little fish giggled too!

Ready or not,
here I come!
