

The Little Spirit's Big Hello

Huzaifa Shahid

Hy is a tiny, glowing spirit made of soft blue light who lives high above a quiet, grey city. He feels a warm spark in his heart whenever he looks down at the people below, wishing he could share his light with them.

One morning, Hy drifts down to a lonely park where a girl named Maya sits quietly on a bench. He hovers near her, sparkling gently like a fallen star, hoping to catch her attention and share a moment of warmth.

MAYA AND HY

Maya looks up in wonder as the little glowing spirit dances before her eyes. Hy pulses with a soft golden light, silently asking her how she is, and Maya feels a sudden wave of peace wash over her.

Together, Hy and Maya wander through the park, finding beauty in the small things like dew on the grass and the song of a hidden bird. Hy's presence turns the dull morning into a magical adventure of discovery.

They come across an old man struggling to carry a heavy bag of birdseed near the fountain. Hy nudges Maya gently, encouraging her to reach out and offer a helping hand to the tired stranger.

As Maya helps the man, Hy glows with a brilliant, joyful light that seems to make the flowers around them bloom. The old man smiles broadly, his eyes twinkling as he thanks them for their unexpected kindness.

Later, they find a small boy sitting alone by the sandbox, looking too shy to join the other children. Hy floats over and does a silly, shimmering somersault in the air, making the boy giggle and forget his fear.

With Hy's glowing encouragement, the boy finally says hello to the other children and is invited to play. The park is suddenly filled with the happy sounds of laughter and new friendships forming everywhere.

As the sun begins to set, the once-grey city is bathed in a warm, golden glow that reflects the kindness spread by a simple greeting. Hy realizes that even the smallest spirit can make a massive difference in the world.

Maya waves a fond goodbye as Hy floats back up into the twinkling night sky to rest. Though he is far away, the warmth of his 'hello' remains in the hearts of everyone he met that day.
