

Lily's Wonderful Birthday Party

Zoe

Today is Lily the White Rabbit's special birthday! Her fluffy tail wiggles with excitement. She can barely wait for her big party to begin.

Lily waits patiently, her ears perked up, listening intently. She peeks around the corner, her gaze fixed on the quiet front door. "Where could my friends be?" she whispers, a tiny sigh escaping her.

Knock, knock! A happy sound echoes through the house! One by one, Lily's dear friends begin to arrive at the door. "Happy Birthday, Lily!" they chirp and squeak with joy.

The friends gather around a big table, eager to create. Scribble, scribble, scribble! They draw with gusto, making colorful marks on their papers. Lily joins in, her own paws busily sketching.

Next, the party turns into a joyful dance! Spin, spin, spin! Hop, hop, hop! The friends twirl and leap with delight. Lily spins gracefully, her ears flopping with every turn.

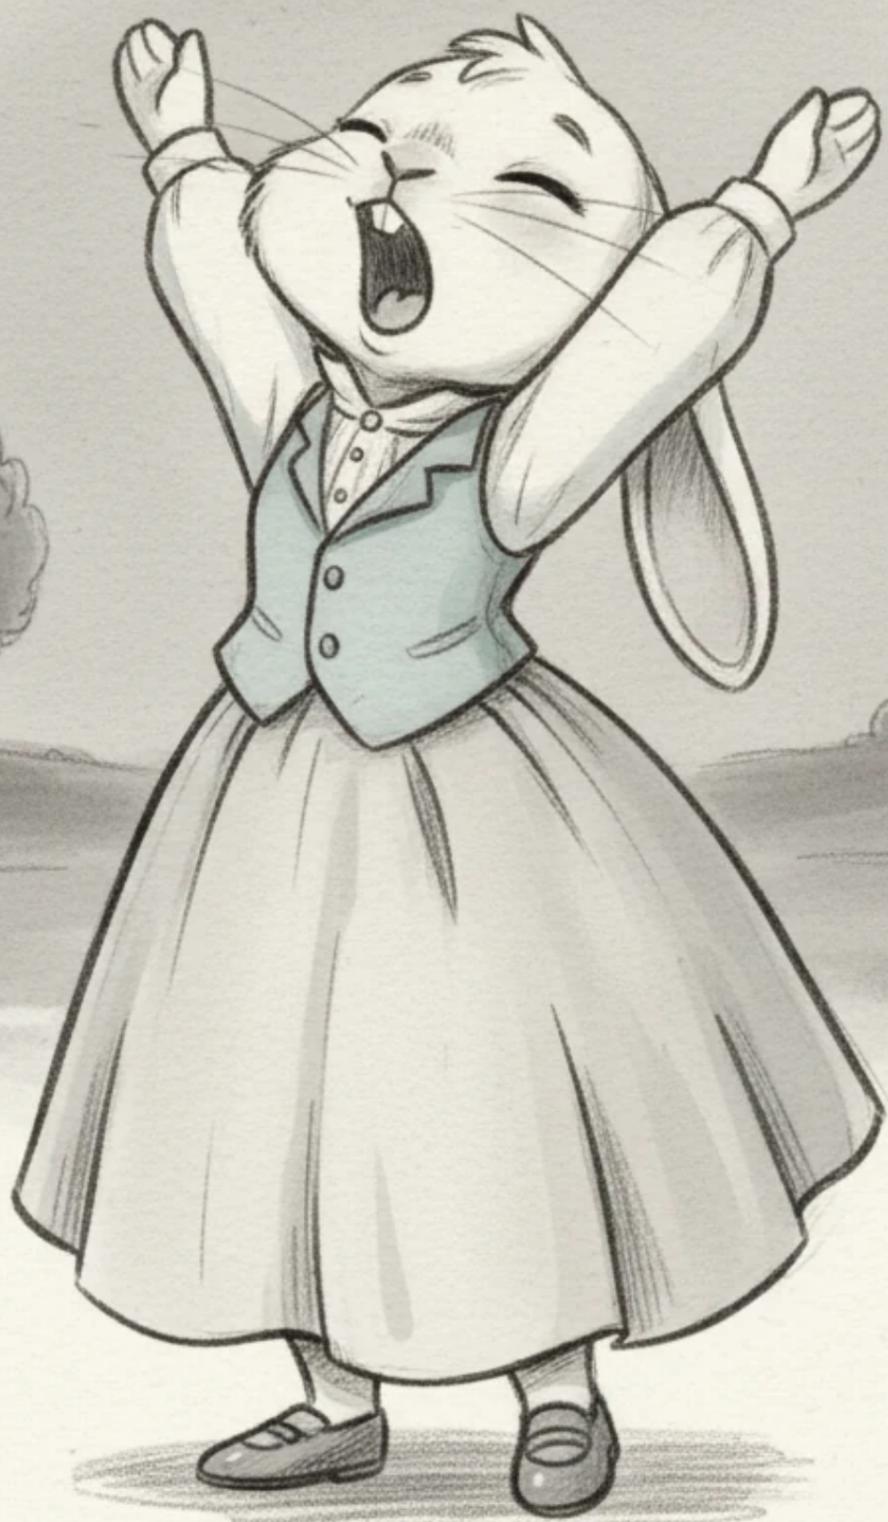

Then, it's time for a song! "La la la!" the friends sing in a happy chorus. Their voices rise together, celebrating Lily's special day. Lily beams in the middle, joining in with all her heart.

Now for the most delicious part – cake! Munch, munch, munch! Everyone enjoys the sweet, round birthday cake. Lily takes a big bite, licking the yummy icing from her paw with pure delight.

After cake, it's time for games! Build, build, build! Roll, roll, roll! The friends play with blocks and balls. Lily carefully stacks colorful blocks, building a tower taller than herself.

After a day full of laughter and play, Lily is wonderfully tired. She stretches her arms and lets out a huge, sleepy yawn. "Thank you, my dear friends," she murmurs, her heart full.

Her friends wave one last goodbye, hopping and skipping all the way home. Lily, cozy and content, snuggles deep into her soft bed. What a truly wonderful birthday party it had been!
