

My Colourful Fruits

Jkjunyu Frusted

Pip the Bunny skips happily into a bright, sunny fruit garden bursting with vibrant colors. He wears a happy smile, excited to discover all the delicious healthy treats waiting for him today.

Pip stops beside a leafy green bush near the soft grass. Nestled safely underneath the leaves, he spots tiny red treasures hiding in the sunshine.

Pip gently picks a tiny red fruit and holds it up proudly. This is a strawberry. It is bright red and juicy. It tastes sweet and delicious.

Next, Pip hops over to a tall apple tree with lush green branches. Big, heavy fruits hang gracefully from the sturdy limbs, glowing in the warm sunlight.

Pip reaches high up on tiptoes to grab a smooth fruit from the tree. This is an apple. It has smooth, shiny skin. It tastes sweet and crunchy.

Pip wanders over to a wooden trellis where climbing vines twist and grow. Rows of small round fruits hang down in beautiful tidy clusters.

Pip gently admires the pretty purple fruit growing together on the vine. These are grapes. They grow in small bunches. They are sweet and juicy.

Walking further down the sunny garden path, Pip arrives at a bright orange tree. The air around the tree smells wonderfully sweet, fresh, and zesty.

Pip holds a round, bumpy fruit between his soft little paws. This is an orange. It has a bright orange colour. It tastes sweet and refreshing.

Pip sits on a soft grassy picnic blanket with a bowl full of colorful fruits, sharing them with his friendly forest pals. Eating healthy, colorful snacks makes everyone feel happy and strong.
