

Love Across Worlds

Kate

Late one night, Max and Cole, unable to sleep, stumbled upon a peculiar website. Their faces lit up with mischievous grins as they discovered they could legally marry a TV character online. A prank was brewing!

They scrolled through profiles, giggling, until they found Buster Brady. His profile described him as a 'loyal man,' which Max and Cole found hilarious for their commitment-phobic friend, Merrick. With a click, Merrick was signed up to marry Buster.

The next morning, Max and Cole burst into the kitchen, barely containing their laughter as they told Merrick his big news. Merrick, sipping his juice, scoffed, thinking it was just another one of their silly jokes. He couldn't believe a word of it.

But then, Merrick's eyes widened in disbelief. Right outside, casually chatting with Princess Shayla, stood Buster Brady himself, looking exactly like his TV show character. Buster was oblivious to the Wild Force Rangers sitting nearby.

Princess Shayla, noticing Merrick's stunned face, beckoned him closer and introduced him to Buster. Buster, with a warm smile, then asked Merrick if he wanted to stay married, given their online vows. Merrick, still reeling from shock, happily agreed.

Two years later, Buster and Merrick were inseparable, their love blooming beautifully. One sunny afternoon, Buster asked Princess Shayla if Merrick could join him on a visit to his own world. Princess Shayla, seeing their happiness, graciously agreed.

With a shimmer and a pop, Buster and Merrick found themselves standing outside a familiar house, Dermot's mom's place, in Buster's vibrant TV show world. They looked around, a mix of excitement and wonder on their faces, ready for a new adventure.

Everyone, Merrick and I are getting married!

Inside, Buster proudly introduced Merrick to Dermot and his family, announcing their marriage with a twinkle in his eye. Dermot's family gasped in surprise, then burst into cheers, welcoming Merrick into their quirky family with open arms.

A year later, at Mrs. Brown's house on Christmas morning, everyone was joyfully unwrapping presents. Suddenly, a deafening BANG rattled the windows from outside. All conversation stopped, and worried faces exchanged glances.

Rushing outside, they saw a monstrous Org trying to smash cars! With a powerful roar, Merrick morphed into the Howling Wolf Power Ranger, defeating the creature with incredible skill. He then demorphed, returning to Buster's side, as Mrs. Brown and her family stared in wide-eyed amazement and cheering.
