

color page

Mu Ryan

Pip Pen loved to draw!

With a happy wiggle, Pip held to big crayon, ready to make something wonderful.

The blank page stretched out, of possibilities waiting.

Pip smiled, excited for the day's day's artistic adventure.

But wait! As Pip looked closer, the page wasn't just blank. It was a dull, gray way world with no color at all! The trees were plain outlines, and the sky just white. Pip felt Pip felt a little bit sad.

This won't do! Every world needs color! I will go find all the missing colors!

Pip met a sad butterfly with plain wings. Pip had an idea!

Pip found a magical petal!

Here you go,
little friend!

Gasp!
Delight!

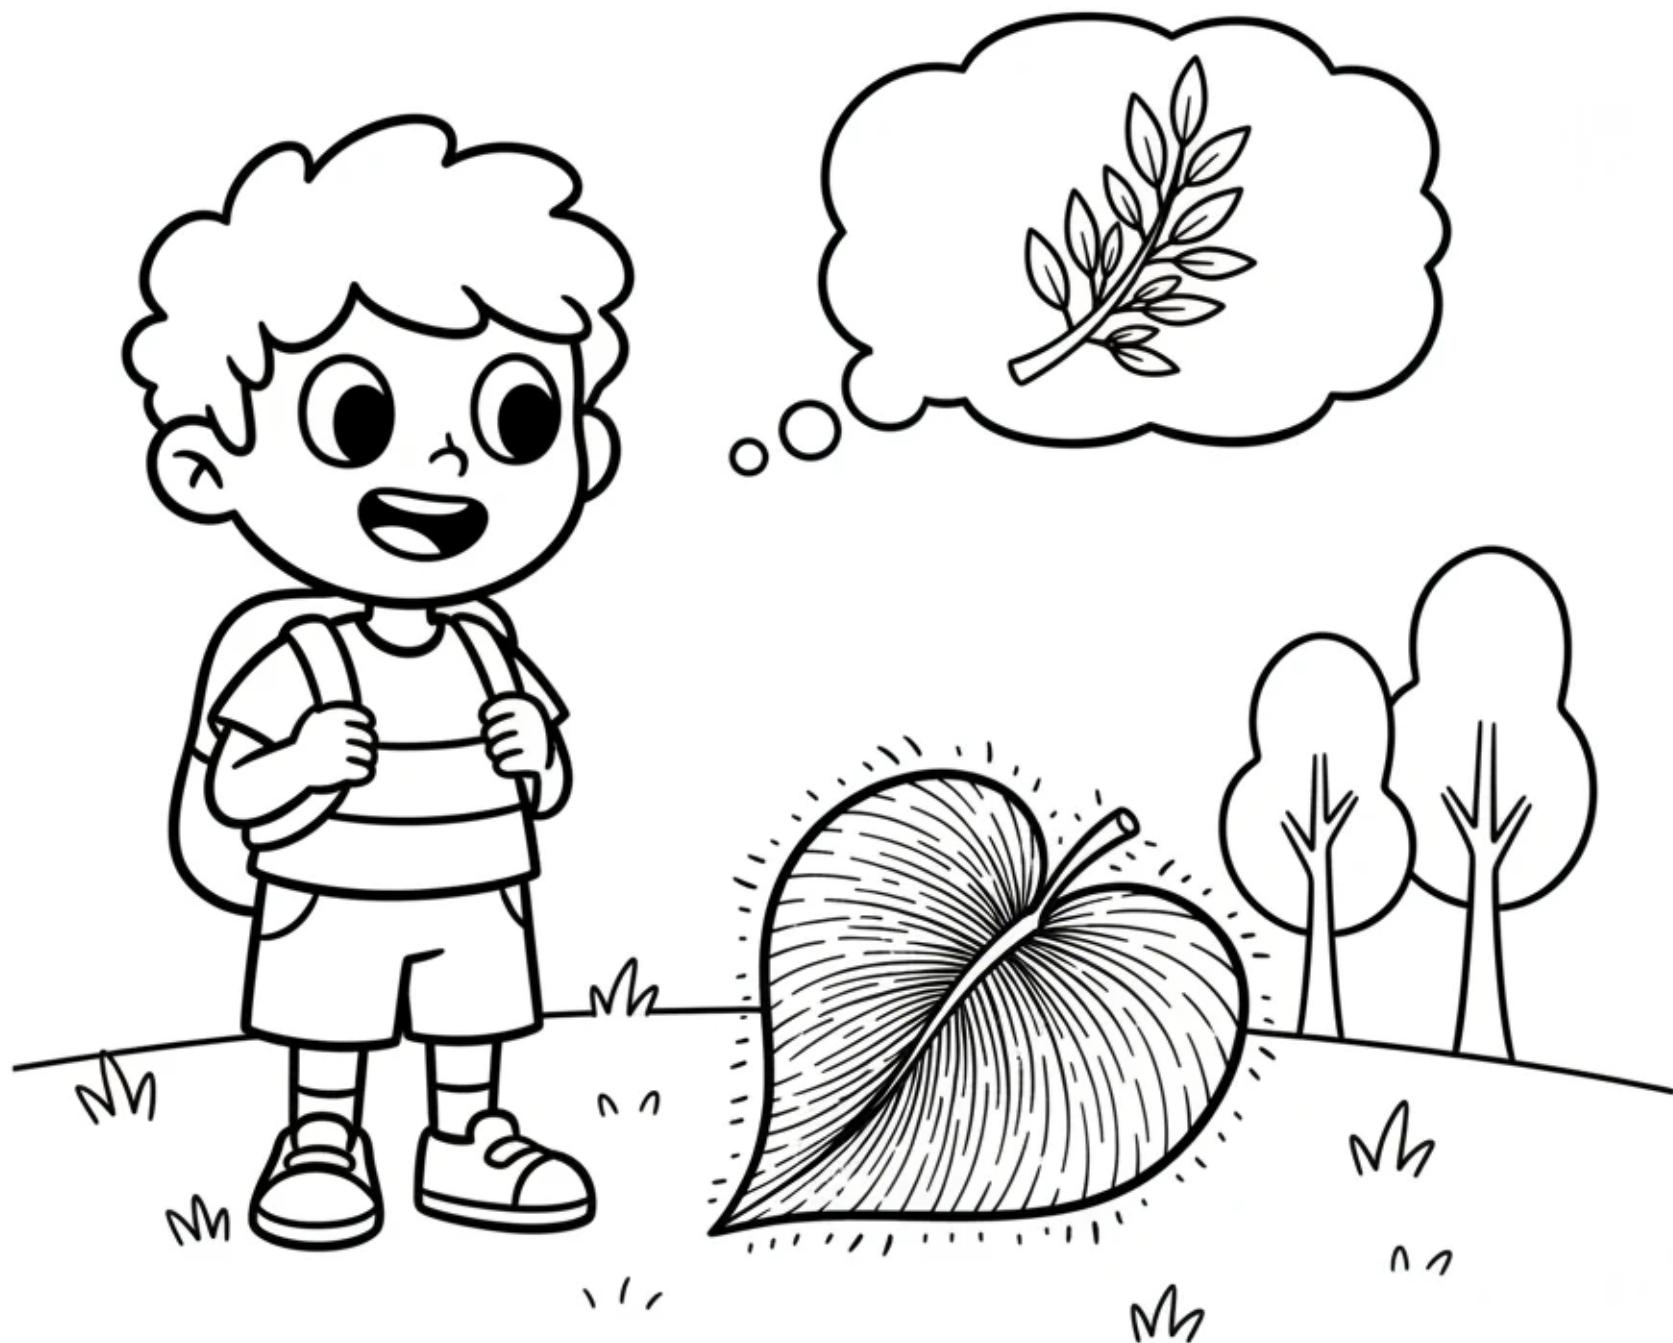

Next, Pip jourmyed to a plain, outlind, outlined stream. The water was just white, and the sky above empty. Pip knew this place needed the calming blue. Where could blue be hiding?

Suddenly, a shimmering
blue appeared!

Time to PAINT!

Pip continued on, and soon discovered a vibrant green leaf, full of life! It pulsed with the energy of nature, ready the lushness to the plain, outlined trees and grass.

With a final flourish,
Pip spread the green
across the tree grass.
The world burst life!
burst into life! Everything now full of wonderful wonderful colors, thanks
the brave Pip Pen.

What a beautiful, colorful world!

