

Aunt Yvonne's Sunny River Days

KATHERINE LOUGHRAN

Aunt Yvonne, a cheerful woman with shoulder-length blonde hair and stylish glasses, waves from her cozy porch. Her two best friends, Hana and Logan, walk up the path with bright smiles, ready for a wonderful day together.

The three friends stroll down to their favorite spot by the riverbank, where the water sparkles under the warm morning sun. They settle into comfortable lawn chairs, looking out at the calm, wide river.

A large, colorful cargo ship slowly glides past, honking its deep horn. Aunt Yvonne, Hana, and Logan point and smile, enjoying the peaceful rhythm of the river traffic.

As the afternoon heat arrives, Aunt Yvonne surprises everyone with a cooler filled with delicious, dripping ice cream cones. Hana chooses mint chocolate chip, Logan gets bright strawberry, and Aunt Yvonne happily licks a scoop of classic vanilla.

They sit together on a wooden bench, laughing as they try to eat their ice cream before it melts in the summer sun. A gentle breeze from the river cools them down, making the sweet treats taste even better.

Later, a sleek white sailboat with large canvas sails cuts through the water, tilting gracefully in the wind. The trio watches in awe, captivated by how beautiful and quiet the boat seems on the river.

As the sun begins to set, painting the sky in shades of orange and pink, the friends pack up their chairs. They walk back toward Aunt Yvonne's welcoming house, feeling tired but completely content.

Inside the cozy living room, Aunt Yvonne turns on the television while Logan plops onto the soft sofa and Hana grabs a warm blanket. The room fills with the familiar, comforting glow of the screen.

They share a big bowl of crunchy popcorn, laughing together at a funny comedy show on the television. Wrapped up in blankets, the three friends feel safe and happy in each other's company.

With the TV playing softly in the background, Aunt Yvonne, Hana, and Logan smile, knowing that simple days like this are the very best. It was a perfect day of boats, ice cream, and wonderful friendship.
