

Leo's Bright Days

Zahra Saad

Leo wakes up with the sun, jumping out of bed with a big smile on his face. He neatly packs his backpack with his sharp pencils and favorite notebooks, ready for another wonderful day at school.

At the school gates, Leo cheerfully waves goodbye to his mom and greets the principal with a polite bow. His bright energy brings a smile to everyone walking through the morning courtyard.

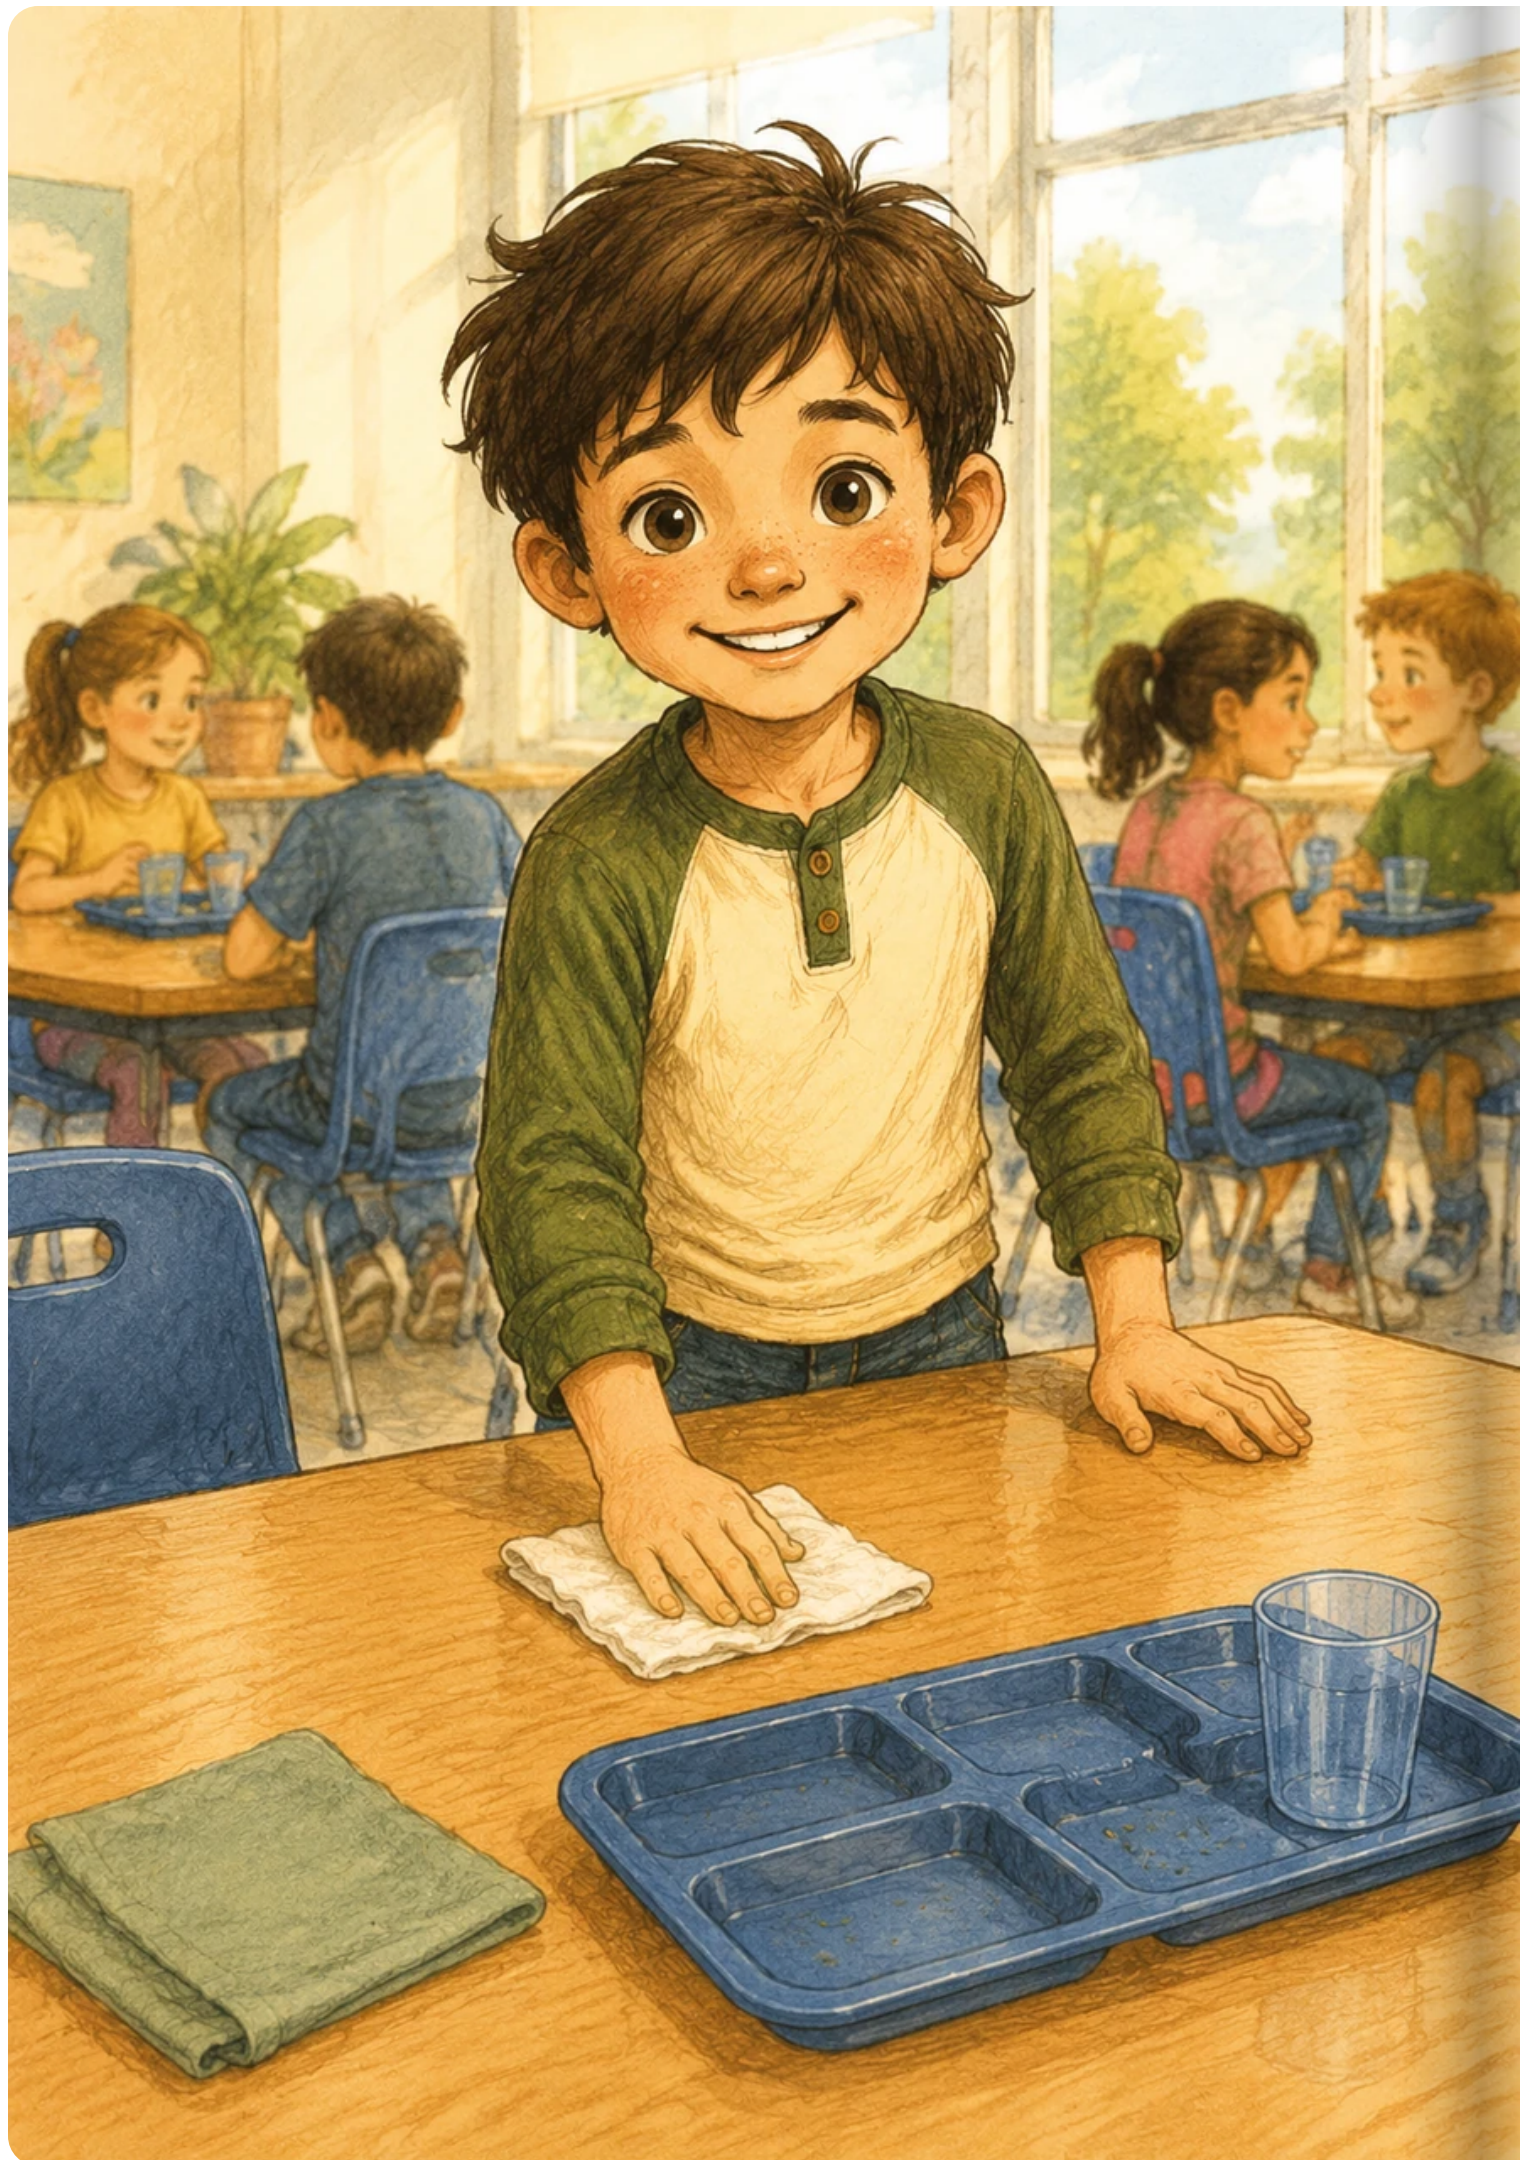

During morning reading time, Leo sits up straight and listens intently as his teacher shares a wonderful story. He tracks the words with his finger, eager to learn every new thing he can.

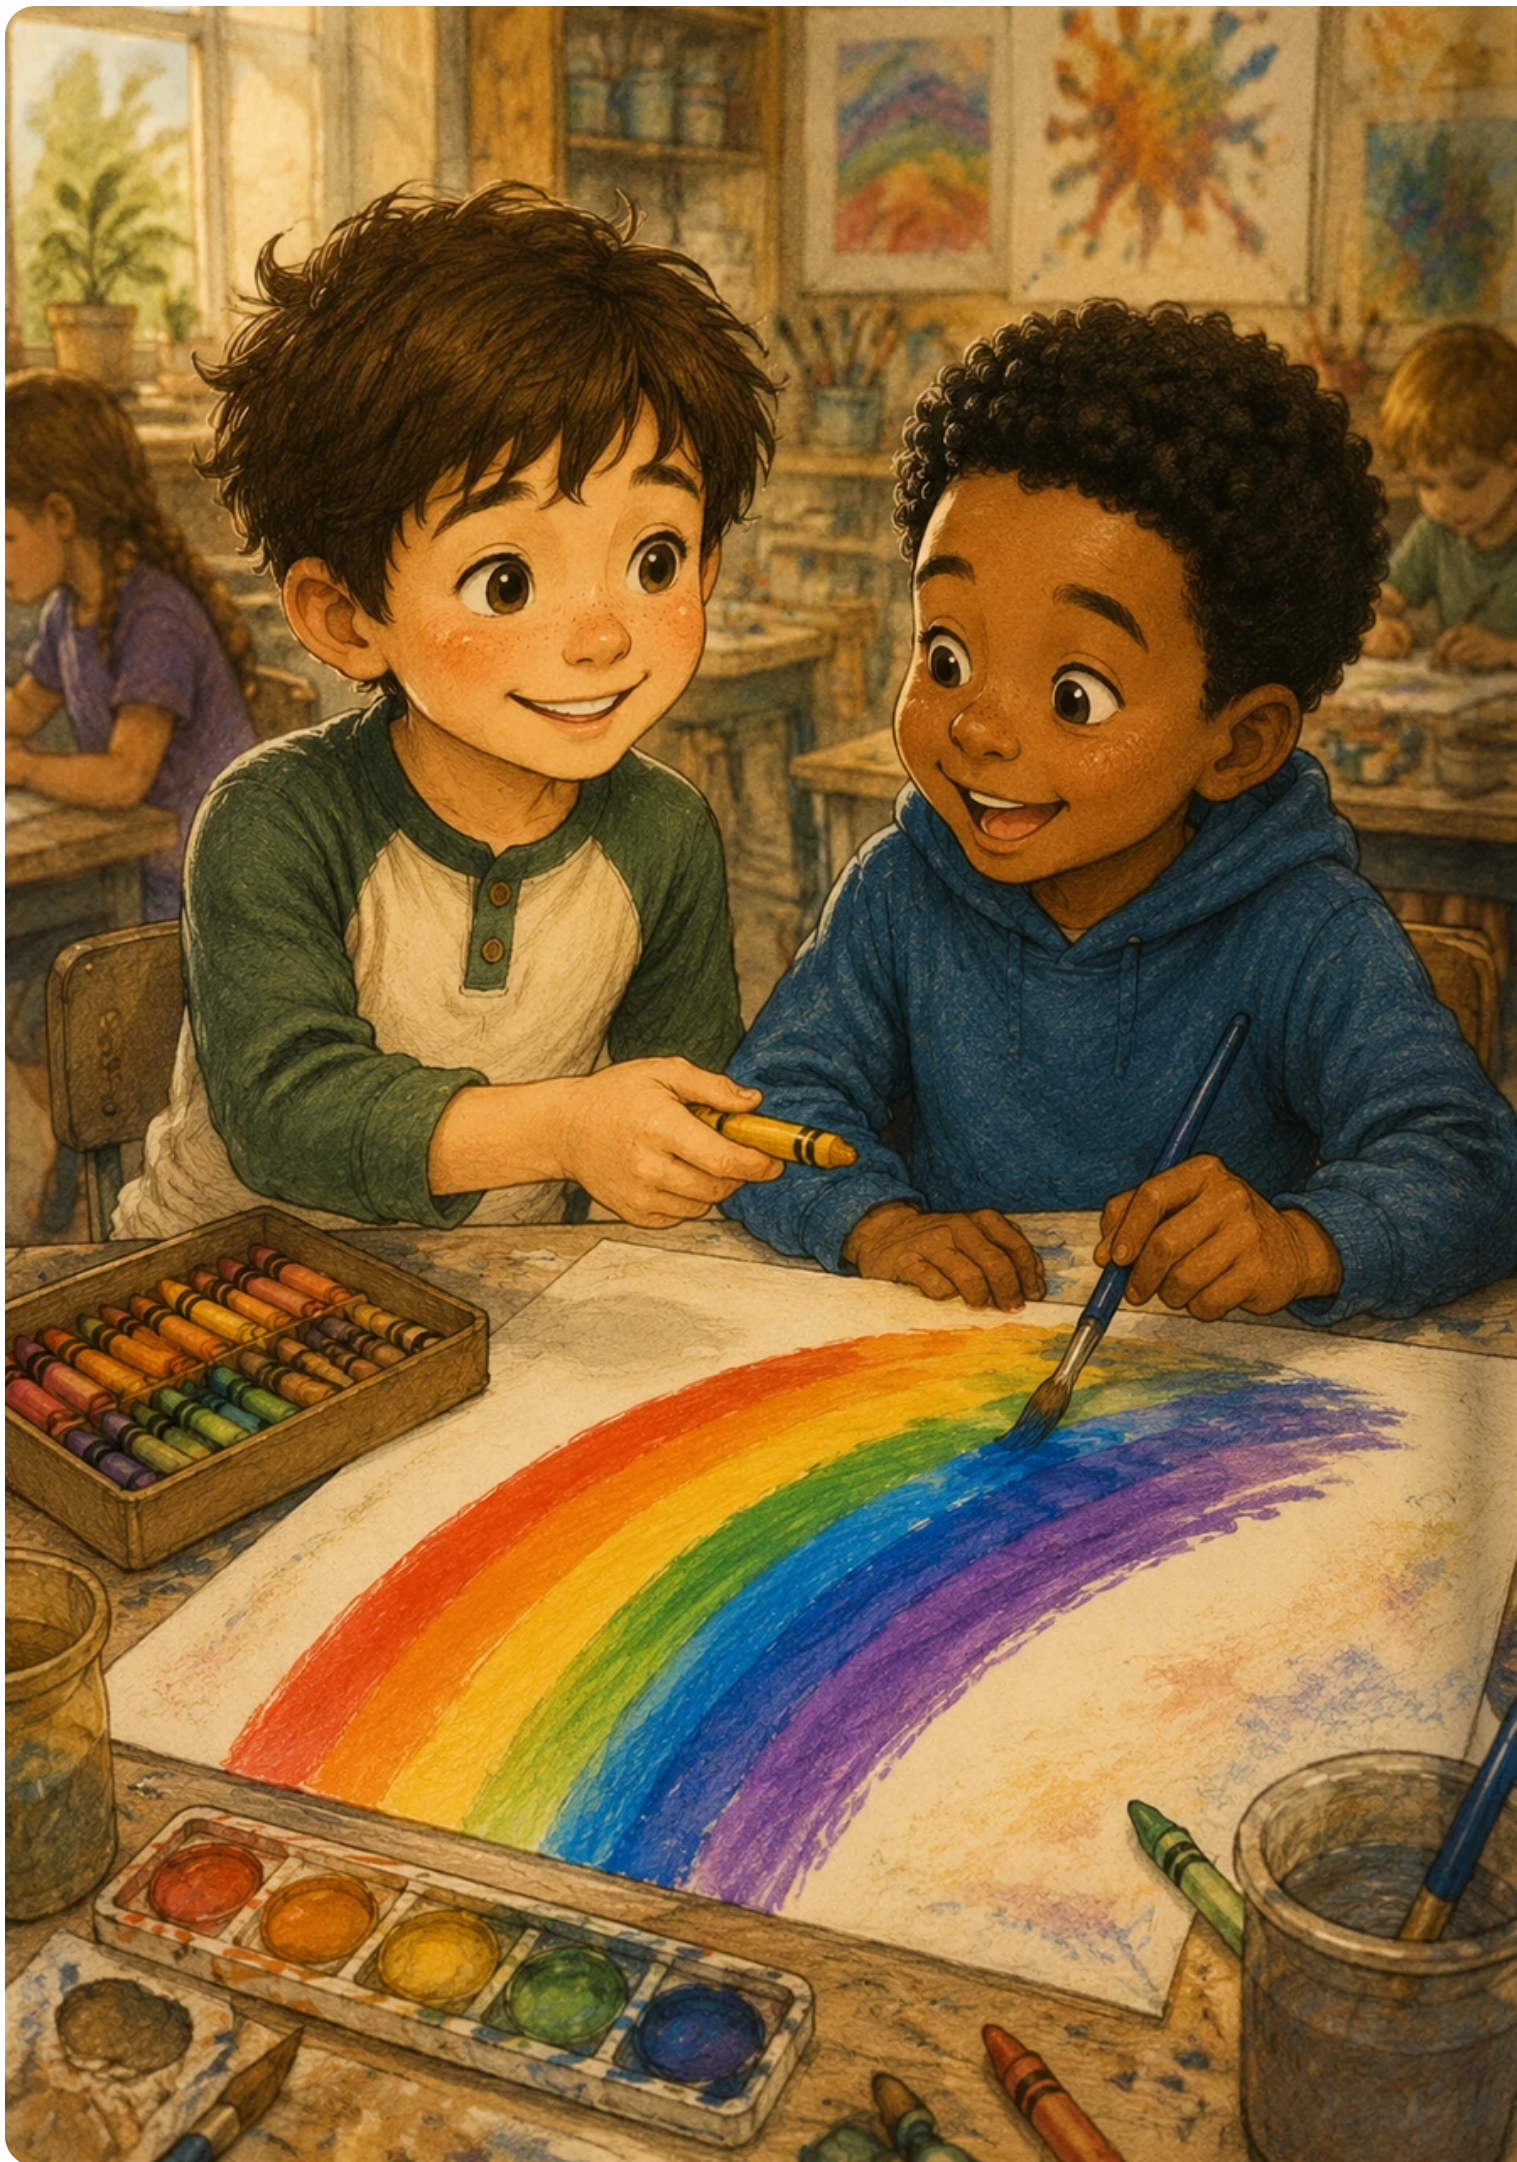

When the teacher asks a difficult question, Leo patiently raises his hand instead of shouting out. He answers clearly and confidently, earning a warm nod of approval from his teacher.

At recess, Leo notices a classmate sitting alone on the bench looking sad. He walks over with a friendly smile and invites them to play catch with his bright red ball.

During lunchtime, Leo neatly spreads his napkin and eats all his vegetables without making a mess. Afterward, he carefully cleans up his tray and helps wipe down the table for his friends.

In art class, Leo happily shares his box of colorful crayons with a neighbor who forgot theirs. Together, they laugh and paint a beautiful rainbow on a large sheet of paper.

When a classmate accidentally drops their heavy stack of books in the hallway, Leo quickly kneels down to help. He gathers the fallen papers and offers an encouraging word with a smile.

As the final bell rings, Leo neatly stacks his chair and ensures his desk is perfectly clean. He says a polite goodbye to his teacher, thanking her for the wonderful lessons today.

Back at home, Leo happily completes his homework at his desk before dinnertime. He looks out the window at the setting sun, feeling proud of a great day spent learning and helping others.
