

Leo's Favorite Picnic Treats

Halma Zakiyah

Leo lays out a colorful checkered blanket on the soft green grass beneath a shady tree. He reaches into his picnic basket and proudly pulls out a fresh sandwich and a bright red apple. His friend Mia sits beside him with a tall, cold glass of sweet orange juice.

Mia happily shares her favorite orange juice while Sam arrives with a big slice of warm cheese pizza and a fresh glass of milk. The friends chatter excitedly about the delicious flavors and colorful treats laid out on the blanket. Sunbeams filter through the leaves, illuminating their lunchtime feast.

After finishing their main meals, the children treat themselves to bowls of creamy strawberry ice cream. They raise their glasses in a cheerful toast to celebrate good friends and yummy foods. Smiling bright under the afternoon sun, everyone agrees that picnic lunches are the absolute best.
