Mary notices a big problem:
the wine has run out.

They have run out of wine.
Please help.

Do whatever
He tells you.

Fill the jars with water.

Scene 7 of 10

The servants worked hard until the cool spring water filled every stone jar, with the water level almost to the brim. In the sunlight, the water in the stone jars was especially clear and transparent.

I wonder what will happen
next.

You have saved
the best wine for last!

Only the servants and the disciples witnessed all that had happened. They looked at the six stone jars, filled with wine, and their hearts were full of awe and wonder. This miracle strengthened their faith in Jesus and brought the wedding celebration to a perfect close.

His disciples believed in Him.
