

Leo's Day of Action

Vanashri Bhushetti .

Leo the Lion wakes up early and stretches his golden paws toward the bright morning sun. He smiles because he knows today will be filled with many exciting activities in the forest.

He runs across the emerald green meadow, feeling the cool wind in his thick mane. Leo jumps over a small, bubbling brook with a big, happy leap as he heads toward the woods.

To see the whole forest, Leo climbs the tallest oak tree he can find. He looks around carefully, searching for his favorite colorful kite that flew away yesterday.

High in the branches, a small bluebird chirps a cheerful song to greet him. Leo waves his paw and whistles back a happy tune to show he is a friendly neighbor.

Leo slides down the smooth tree trunk and lands softly on the lush grass below. He dances a little jig because he is so happy to be outside exploring the world.

He finds a sparkling river and splashes the cool water with his tail to stay refreshed. The water droplets shimmer like tiny diamonds in the warm afternoon light.

Leo picks up a smooth stone and paints a picture of the sun using colorful crushed flower petals. He creates a beautiful masterpiece on the side of a large canyon wall.

He shares his delicious fruit snacks with his best friend, Mia the Monkey, under a shady canopy. They laugh together as they tell funny stories about their morning adventures.

As the sky turns a deep shade of orange, Leo walks slowly back to his cozy den. He yawns widely, feeling his eyes grow heavy after a very busy and active day.

Leo snuggles into his soft bed of dried leaves and closes his eyes for the night. He dreams of all the wonderful things he will do and the new places he will explore tomorrow.
