

The Loudest Friends

원종국

Barnaby the donkey stood looking rather glum in a quiet field, his ears drooping slightly. He dreamed of exciting adventures beyond his everyday routine, wishing for a bit more fun in his life.

Soon, a bouncy dog with floppy ears trotted up to Barnaby, wagging his tail excitedly. The two instantly became friends and decided to set off together, hoping to find some adventure.

As they ambled down a winding path, a sleek, curious cat with bright green eyes joined their journey. The trio now felt ready for anything, their spirits high as they continued on their way.

The sun began to set, casting long shadows, and the friends spotted a warm, inviting house in the distance. Peeking through a window, they saw two shadowy figures inside, counting piles of shiny gold coins.

Barnaby, the dog, and the cat whispered together, forming a brilliant, daring plan. They decided to stack themselves up, one on top of the other, to create the most surprising 'monster' ever seen!

First, Barnaby stood tall and steady, a determined look on his face. The brave dog carefully climbed onto Barnaby's broad back, his paws finding a firm grip, ready for the next step.

Next, the agile cat gracefully leaped onto the dog's back, balancing perfectly. She arched her back, stretching high, adding to their growing, wobbly tower of friends.

Finally, a proud rooster with a magnificent red comb flapped his wings and flew to the very top. He stood majestically, completing their incredible, multi-tiered animal stack.

With a deep breath, they unleashed their combined voices! Barnaby let out a mighty BRAY, the dog gave a loud WOOF, the cat yowled a piercing MEOW, and the rooster crowed with all his might, COCK-A-DOODLE-DOO!
