

Sam's Big Day

by Theron Hawkins

It was 10:30 pm, and Sam, with his brown hair and eyes, was getting ready for bed. The moon shone through his window as he snuggled under his covers, ready for a night of dreams. He felt tired but excited for the next day, ready to close his eyes and drift off to sleep.

At 11:00 pm, the world outside faded as Sam's eyes closed and he fell fast asleep. His dreams began, filled with adventures and fantastical creatures. Sleep embraced him as he started to dream about the next big day.

The sun peeked through the blinds at 6:00 am, waking Sam up. He stretched and yawned, ready to start his day. A new day had begun, bringing a fresh start and new beginnings.

At 6:20 am, Sam hopped out of bed and rushed to the bathroom. He splashed water on his face, feeling refreshed, and washed his hands with soap. He was ready to prepare for his busy morning.

Next, it was time for breakfast! Sam sat at the table and poured himself a bowl of crunchy cereal. He ate it slowly, enjoying the taste and gathering the energy he would need for school.

Finally, it was time to brush his teeth. Sam grabbed his black toothbrush, put on the toothpaste, and brushed until his teeth were sparkling clean. Then he went to his room to prepare for school, wearing a gray shirt and blue shorts. He fixed his hair and washed his face before heading off to school.