

Leah and Violet's Magical Adventure

by Valeriya Kurasova

In a land where flowers always bloomed and the sun always shone, lived a little girl named Leah. She loved to dream and play in the fields. Beside her was her best friend, Violet, a friendly purple dragon.

Violet had shiny purple scales and kind, big eyes. She loved Leah very much and always kept her safe. Together, they would set off on amazing adventures every single day.

One sunny afternoon, Leah and Violet were exploring a forest when they heard a small cry. They followed the sound until they found a little rabbit trapped in some bushes.

Leah rushed over to help. "Don't worry, little one!" she said softly. Violet carefully used her strong paws to gently move the branches and free the rabbit.

The rabbit, now free, hopped away, thanking them. Leah and Violet smiled, happy they could help. They realized that helping others brought them even more joy than their adventures.

From that day on, Leah and Violet continued their adventures, always looking for ways to help anyone in need. They learned that the greatest adventures involved not only fun, but also kindness and the magic of friendship.