

Ruby's Moonlight Wish

by 黃弘

In a forest, bathed in a soft moonlight, lived Ruby, a little rabbit with a big heart. Every night, she gazed at the moon, dreaming of the legendary Moonlight Flower. She wished with all her might to find it, a flower that bloomed under the moonlight.

Ruby packed a small bag with carrots and berries, ready for her adventure. The forest path shimmered, inviting her forward. With a hop and a skip, she began her journey, her ears perked and her nose twitching with excitement.

She met Mr. Owl, wise and old, perched on a branch. He gave her a glowing feather, telling her it would guide her when she truly needed it. Ruby thanked him, feeling a surge of hope.

Next, she encountered Bobo the hedgehog, trembling in fear of the dark. Ruby held his paw, offering comfort. Together, they walked onward, Ruby's bravery easing Bobo's worries.

Then, they met Miko the fox, who had lost his way. Ruby, ever kind, suggested they search for his home together. The three friends, now united, continued their quest, their friendship growing stronger.

Finally, after many adventures, they reached the Moonlight Lake, shimmering with starlight. In the center, bloomed the Moonlight Flower, its petals glowing. Ruby reached out, and the feather glowed, creating a bridge to the flower.