

Timmy's Big Day

by أم جويرية

In a lush green forest, lived Timmy the turtle. He was a small turtle, and he wasn't very fast. The other animals would often laugh at his slow pace as he ambled through the tall grass and under the shade of the trees.

One sunny morning, Ricky the Rabbit challenged Timmy to a race. Timmy just smiled, knowing he couldn't win. Ricky zipped off, leaving Timmy to slowly start. Penny the Parrot flew overhead, cheering for Ricky.

Suddenly, dark clouds rolled in, and the river near the forest began to rage. The wind howled and rain poured down. Ricky, playing near the bank, lost his footing and tumbled into the rushing water!

The other animals panicked, unsure of how to help their friend. Timmy, however, remained calm. He observed the strong current, thinking hard about how to solve the problem.

Timmy announced his plan: to build a bridge! He instructed the animals to find strong vines and sturdy sticks. Working together, they created a bridge across the raging river, inching towards Ricky.

With great effort, Timmy pulled Ricky to safety. The animals cheered, realizing Timmy's thoughtful plan had saved the day. From then on, they understood that slowness can be a strength, and kindness can always conquer.
