

Stella's Seattle Story

by Olivia Chapman

Once upon a time, in the beautiful city of Seattle, lived a little girl named Stella. This story is all about how her mommy and daddy met and got married, a long time ago before she was even born!

It all started on July 19th, 2025. The sun shone brightly over the Magnolia United Church of Christ, where Mommy and Daddy were about to say "I do." The church looked like a fairytale castle.

Mommy, with her beautiful smile, walked down the aisle, her dress shimmering like a cloud. Daddy waited at the altar, his eyes sparkling with love and excitement. The air was filled with happy music.

After the ceremony, everyone celebrated at a grand reception downtown. There were twinkling lights, delicious food, and lots of laughter. Stella's future parents danced the night away.

The city lights twinkled as Mommy and Daddy shared their first dance as husband and wife. They held each other close, dreaming of a future filled with love and happiness, a future that included Stella.

And now, years later, Stella is turning five! This story is a special gift, a reminder of the love that brought her into the world, and a celebration of her very own birthday and how much she is loved.
