

Bunny's Cozy Blanket

Once upon a time, in a cozy little burrow, lived a sweet bunny named Lily. She loved her soft, warm blanket more than anything.

One evening, as the stars twinkled, Lily peeked outside. She saw her friend Squeaky the squirrel shivering a little on a tree branch.

Lily, with a kind heart, hopped over to Squeaky. "Are you cold?" she whispered, offering a corner of her snuggly blanket.

Squeaky snuggled close, feeling much warmer. Soon, Pip the hedgehog waddled by, looking a bit chilly too.

"There's room for you, Pip!" chirped Lily, inviting the hedgehog under her big, soft blanket.

Then, a tiny bluebird named Chirp landed nearby, its feathers ruffled by the evening breeze. Lily made sure Chirp had a warm spot.

Finally, little Foxy, a shy fox kit, padded silently towards them. Lily smiled, knowing Foxy needed warmth too.

All five friends were now nestled together, cozy and warm under Lily's wonderful blanket. The blanket seemed to stretch for everyone.

Lily yawned a big, sleepy yawn. She felt so happy sharing her warmth with her dear friends.

As the moon shone bright, Lily and her friends drifted off to sleep, dreaming sweet dreams, all tucked in by the cozy blanket.
